RUSSIAN BEAR IS THROTTLED

Kuropatkin's Army Is Surrounded — His Rear Guard Annihilated.

MUKDEN DESERTED

Mikado's Victorious Troops Are Within Thirty Miles of Its Walls.

END OF CAMPAIGN IS IN SIGHT

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MUKDEN, Sept. 5.—Preparations for the evacuation of Mukden are proceeding. The Japanese advance is within 30 miles.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 5.—It is reported at a late hour that Gen. Kuropatkin's rear guard has been almost annihilated, and that the main Russian army is in imminent danger of being surrounded.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Daily Mail this morning prints a dispatch from Sin-Min-Tin, dated September 5, giving a report that Gen. Kuropatkin's retreat has been cut off. The dispatch goes on to say that the Russian troops had advanced in strong force to the southeast of Mukden as far as Japing hill to oppose any possible attack in the direction of their advance.

A Chinese official, who arrived from Mukden Sunday, says that the Russian troops are leaving for the north, that there are 18,000 men 10 miles to the east of the city, that the officers and men have become dispirited and that much sickness prevails.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 6.—(3:20 a. m.)—It is impossible at this hour to obtain any statement from the authorities regarding the reported preparations for the abandonment of Mukden.

Campaign Is Wound Up.

This is the first intimation that such a course is contemplated. If it turns out to be true, it means the abandonment of the whole of southern Manchuria, and the winding-up of the present campaign. In fact, should Mukden be evacuated there would be no point for wintering the army of 250,000, with its many wounded, short of Harbin.

On the other hand, the evacuation of Mukden would give Field Marshal Oyama commodious winter quarters, and the practical control of two lines of railway. The Kin-Chou-Siu-Min-Tin line, tapping rich Chinese territory, stops little short of Mukden, with which it is connected by a good wagon road.

The report of the prospective evacuation of Mukden, if well founded, would indicate that the crippling effect of the Liao-Yang fighting on Kuropatkin's army is more serious than has as yet been intimated.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg, received yesterday before the receipt of the reports concerning the evacuation of Mukden and the disaster to Kuropatkin's rear guard, says:

Kuropatkin's Vain Efforts.

"A summary of the war situation to date shows that the whole Russian army, or at least the main portion of it, is already above Yentai station and is pushing on toward Mukden.

"Field Marshal Oyama's entire army has crossed the Taitse river, and part of it is hanging on to Kuropatkin's flank.

"A strong flanking column on the east is pushing rapidly north in an effort to head off the Russians. Against this column Kuropatkin has sent out a strong cavalry division to the northeast, which it is believed is already in position to check the Japanese flankers, while to the westward Kuropatkin is moving a division towards Sin-Min-Tin, 50 miles west of Mukden, to meet any interference that may be attempted from the direction of Yin-Kow or Neu-Chwang.

"Oyama's advance is reported to be engaging the Russian rear, but it is not expected to develop anything more serious than a series of rear guard actions, tending to harass Kuropatkin's retreat.

"The Japanese have thrown a strong flanking column across the Taitse river

CARNEGIE BID IS UNCERTAIN

All Depends on Whether Midvale Company Can Harden Armor Plate.

FUTURE IS CLOUDED

Competition in Warship Contracts Will Seriously Affect Local Firm.

THEY MAY DROP PROCESSES

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 5.

As the time approaches for the letting of the armor plate contract for the Louisiana and Connecticut, the twin battleships, there is no little interest in naval circles concerning the course that will be taken by Secretary Morton with regard to the competition between the Carnegie company and the Midvale Steel Company.

After the bids for the last contract had been opened there was a long wait before the final award, because the Midvale company was the lowest bidder and it was known it must take time to build and equip a plant before it would be able to comply with the terms of the agreement, and more than this, that it had made no allowance for royalties to the Krupps for the process of hardening plates which the Carnegie company holds as a monopoly in this country. The contract was divided, both bidders receiving an equitable portion of the order.

In the interval there has been considerable curiosity to see whether the Midvale company would be able to fulfil the terms of its contract and whether that company would be a bidder this fall for the additional quantity of plate needed for the new battleships.

The rivalry betwen the two companies is genuine and the consequences, if the Midvale people are able to make plate for the prices they have indicated in their contract, will be of vast importance to the government. The inevitable result will be the lowering of the high cost of plate and no doubt rivalry in the introduction of new processes for hardening steel, so as to improve the product. The Carnegie company is watching the progress of the Midvale company closely to see what it will do. If the latter company should complete its contract the Carnegie company will be forced to reconsider its contract with the Krupps and Harvey people, and, if possible, continue to make plate without paying the high royalties, which have been a part of the price hitherto paid by the government for the enormous quantities of material bought of the Carnegie company.

By some it has been predicted the Midvale people would not be a bidder for the next contract. The representatives of the Carnegie company, however, do not share this expectation. They say that from all indications the Midvale company will continue to bid, as if it had demonstrated fully that it can make satisfactory plate. That company has spent over a quarter of a million on a plant for making armor plate. As the company, under its contract, has several months before it will be called on to deliver any plate, it would be poor business management not to look to future contracts to keep its costly plant busy.

When the bids are advertised for the companies will be required to deposit checks to the amount of not less than $50,000 as a guarantee of good faith. The Midvale people, if uncertain of what they can accomplish by the special process they claim to have for making satisfactory plate, would not as a matter of bluff put up a check of this amount.

The Carnegie company is a good deal in the dark as to a bid. If the Midvale people can make good plate it is not improbable that the Carnegie company will throw up the contract to pay the royalties for the Krupp and the Harvey processes and look to making a bargain with the Midvale people for the right to use their process. ARMIES CLASH AT DAYLIGHT

Grant's and Bell's Forces Under Way at Midnight—Corbin Gives a Dinner.

BRYAN'S ORIGIN IS LEARNED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

GAINESVILLE, VA., Sept. 5.—Orders for a rush to positions were given in both maneuver camps exactly at midnight. The Blue army under Gen. Grant was put under way to attack the Brown army under Gen. Bell. The orders of Gen. Bell sent his forces towards his adversary at double quick. It is his desire to reach a position near the center of the maneuver field and stop the attacking force. Careful estimates of these marches indicate that at daybreak a collision between the opposing forces will take place somewhere near Groveton, a memorable spot in the Bull Run battles. From this first collision the Brown army can fall back, if necessary, to successive positions towards Thoroughfare. Gen. Corbin will join Gen. Grant tomorrow, and witness the operations of his army. The day following he will be with Gen. Bell. The battle is to continue until 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with a truce from 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon until midnight.

Gen. Corbin and his distingulshed guests dined in the mess tent tonight. A toast to the president was drunk standing, and a toast to Spain was responded to by Col. Monteverde, the Spanish military attache, who is an observer of the maneuvers. Col. Raspopoff, the Russian observer, raised his glass to the president. Gov. Warfield of Maryland spoke for his state, and incidentally remarked that Maryland was responsible for Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and other western states. Ex-Senator Manderson of Nebraska said he had often wondered where to look for the source of his friend Bryan. He now knew Maryland was responsible for him. Gen. F. V. Greene of New York and Brig.-Gen. Riggs of Massachusetts also responded to toasts.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Catharine Collins, aged 14, and Jeannette Mehan, aged 15, were drowned by the capsizing of a canoe on Long Island sound, near Glen island, yesterday. Jennie Flynn, aged 16, was rescued unconscious and was worked over a full hour before she revived. Grace Brown, aged 15; Emma Smith, aged 15, and Georgiana Willis, aged 16, Brooklyn, were also rescued.

DEADLY DUEL IN CITY'S STREETS

Two Men Killed and Others Injured in Trying to Collect Bill in West Virginia Town.

FEUD LEADER SHOT TO DEATH

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Sept. 5.—In a street duel at Green Shoals, 20 miles south of here, this afternoon, two men were killed, one fatally injured, another seriously injured and two, who escaped, are supposed to be wounded.

THE DEAD:

ALLEN BRUMFIELD, a justice of the peace.

WILLIAM ADAMS.

The injured are George Mead, shot twice, and John Lambert. Two brothers of John Lambert who engaged in the fight are believed to be wounded, but escaped to the mountains.

The fight started over an attempt of Lambert to collect a bill from Adams. The men engaged in an argument over the account several days ago. Adams struck Lambert. Today Lambert, with his two brothers, came upon Adams in company with George Mead. The fight was renewed, all the men being armed. Brumfield rushed between with his hands uplifted, crying, "Stop boys! Stop!" He dropped to the ground dead. Adams had been shot to death. Mead was lying on the ground with two bullets in his body and firing as he lay on his side.

John Lambert ran for the mountains, but was found unconscious by a deputy sheriff and posse. Mead is dying tonight. The two brothers of John Lambert were seen running from the scene with smoking revolvers and blood soaking on their shirts.

Posses started after the Lambert brothers this evening. If they are brought into Green Shoals there will be another battle, for the residents are arming and taking sides.

Brumfield for years headed the Brumfield family and friends in the bloody Hager-Brumfield feud. In the melee today he carried no weapon. In the Hager feud, it is said, he was shot 15 times. Lambert, who is held at the deputy sheriff's home, is under a strong guard, and violence is feared toward him. Mobs are talking of lynching the Lambert brothers if they are captured tonight.

Indiana's Oldest Man Dying.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Alexander Ferguson, aged 116, the oldest man in Indiana, is reported dying at his home near Gilman. Ferguson was born on December 24, 1788, in Tyrone county, Ireland, and was one of 13 children, three of whom, including himself, lived to be more than 100 years of age.

PENROSE WILL NOT INTERFERE

Learns Courts Would Not Sustain Rule on Deadlocks.

PLANS TO FOLLOW

Candidates Must Either Reach an Agreement or Run on Nomination Papers.

SITUATION PLEASES CHAIRMAN

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 5.

Senator Boies Penrose today announced he had been advised by eminent counsel that Rule 7 of the "Rules of the Republican Party of Pennsylvania," governing the settlement of deadlocks by the chairman of the state committee, in congressional, senatorial and judicial districts, would not, in certain cases, be sustained by the Dauphin county courts. The exception in which the chairman's decision would be invalid would be in those cases where all of the conferees failed to sign the certificate of nomination, thus ratifying the decision of the umpire or referee.

Rule 7, which was adopted by the state convention, August 24, 1900, and first applied in the congressional deadlock of Armstrong-Indiana and Jefferson counties, is as follows:

"In all congressional, senatorial or judicial districts where the delegates of conferees in said congressional, senatorial or judicial districts are unable to agree and make a nomination 55 days prior to the general election, the chairman of the Republican state committee shall appoint one representative Republican from each county of the district, who shall become a part of the original body and shall have the same voice in the deliberations as the original members.

"In event the convention or conference is then unable to agree within five days after the representative Republicans from each district are appointed, as aforesaid, the chairman of the Republican state committee shall select a representative Republican in the district, who shall act as umpire or referee in making a nomination."

At present there are but two senatorial deadlocks existing—those of the Twenty-third district, Bradford and Wyoming, and the Thirty-third district, composed of Huntingdon and Franklin. It is the fight in the latter district between Senator Alexander Stewart of Chambersburg and Postmaster A. F. Welsh of Mt. Union that prompted Chairman Penrose to take a more careful legal view of Rule 7. Mr. Welsh some time ago announced that, in order to settle the deadlock, he would be willing to abide by the decision of the state chairman. Senator Stewart refused to assent to this. This meant that his conferees would not sign the certificate of nomination providing the umpire awarded the nomination to Mr. Welsh.

In view of this, Senator Penrose has decided that he will not exercise the authority vested in him by Rule 7. This conclusion of the chairman means that the candidates must either agree or run on nomination papers. The last day upon which certificates of nomination may be filed with the secretary of the commonwealth is September 27. Nomination papers may be filed as late as October 4, or one week beyond the time for filing certificates of nomination.

Senator Penrose has no desire to arbitrate local county differences, and he is much pleased that he has been relieved of this duty by the advice given him. It is also thought that his decision will encourage and possibly hasten an amicable adjustment of the two deadlocks existing.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

Reply to Harmony Proposition.

DOVER, DEL., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Chairman Allee of the Union Republican party has replied to the harmony proposition of the regulars, proposing to give them the whole ticket, except governor, state treasurer and insurance commissioner.

LABOR'S HOSTS OWN THE CITY

Festival of the Craftsmen Is Celebrated Magnificently.

ORATORY ENDS DAY

Union Men of Western Pennsylvania March to the Music of 18 Bands.

TILE SETTERS CAPTURE CUP

The sixth annual Labor day demonstration of Western Pennsylvania has passed and reflects credit upon its management. Never in the local history of organized labor was such an elaborate program arranged and carried out as that of yesterday. The weather was ideal and nearly every man carrying a union card participated in the demonstration either as an enthusiastic parader, a cheering spectator or a strenuous striver for the honors attached to the sporting events.

It was a few minutes after 10 o'clock when Chief Marshal Frank Curran gave the signal to start the parade. Capt. A. M. Teeters ordered his squad of police to move, and about 15,000 wage-earners moved forward, keeping time to the music of 18 bands and a drum corps.

The arrangements were so complete that no stoppage occurred from the start of the parade until each organization reached the reviewing stand at Forbes and Stevenson street. The route of parade was not as long as former years, and it took less time to pass a given point by reason of the men marching this year four and eight abreast. There was not a craft in the labor organizations without representation in the parade.

It Was an Ideal Day.

The beautiful day with its clear sunshine and cool bracing air inspired every man in line to stand erect and march like a soldier. The principal visiting organization, the stogie makers of Wheeling, numbered over 400. Each man displayed a badge, carried a red, white and blue parasol with the union label on it and wore a long, vicious-looking stogie dangling from a ribbon. In the center of their formation was a tricycle covered with flags, conducted by four Indian chiefs in full regalia. On the tricycle was a mammoth Wheeling stogie. In carriages following the stogie makers were their officers and several proprietors of the big tobacco factories of the Stogie City.

Another organization that presented special features was that of the blacksmiths. This union was preceded by eight mounted men garbed as cowboys. The men followed, attired in white shirts, black ties and black hats, and each wearing a new leather apron.

The carriage drivers and teamsters had a float containing 10 little girls, dressed in white, a very pretty young woman representing Columbia, a young man representing Uncle Sam and another boy representing a scout.

The sheet metal workers made a fine showing and introduced several original features. They were preceded by a float. It consisted of a wagon profusely decorated on which was a small house, the window shades of which were made of galvanized iron. A fire was burning in the house during the parade, but the heat had no effect on the fireproof windows. The metal workers install this new invention, which had its first test during the Baltimore fire.

Beside the float they carried the largest megaphone ever seen in Pittsburgh's streets. It was made of tin and carried by four of the members. Some carried huge soldering irons, others tin fire pots and all carried a tin walking cane. The rear of this union was brought up by a large tin hot-air pipe made in the form of a square. It required 40 members to carry it.

Plumbers and Rivals in Line.

The elevator constructors wore blue shirts, white trousers and white caps. The men of the International Union of Steam and Hot Water Fitters wore white shirts, dark trousers and soft light hats. Each of the tile layers wore a neat piece of tile as his badge. They were arrayed in white suits. The barbers wore straw hats and cleanly shaved faces.

The plumbers made an unusually fine showing, the marchers being attired in white suits, fedora hats, black belts and white shirts. They were 500 strong. Business Agent James J. McKee, who was adjutant general, said the organization was determined to show the public that the long strike had not put them out of business and that the union is as strong as ever. The steam fitters, local 218, the rival of the plumbers, also made an excellent showing, fully 400 being in line. They were attired nearly the same as the plumbers.

The street car men had barely sufficient men in line to play a game of baseball. It was no fault of the members of the union, as they were compelled to work, on account of the ball game at Exposition park, the circus and the people going to and returning from Schenley park.

The plasterers, who did not parade last year, made up for their non-appearance then by turning out to a member. Over 400 were in line wearing uniforms of white trousers, white shirts, black ties and brown rough rider hats. They also carried colored canes. Business Agent James Culp was aid to the division marshal, but he neglected those duties to keep his men in line, which he did nobly.

Thousands of Spectators.

The day being fine, more people were spectators of the parade than of any labor parade previously held in Pittsburgh. All buildings were packed and the sidewalks were jammed.

Meister's band, which headed the stogie makers of Wheeling, was among the leading musical organizations in the parade. Late in the afternoon they gave several serenades in the downtown district and won much applause, not only for their excellent music, but for their courtesy in orking overtime." Several selections re played in front of newspaper offices hich were listened to by hundreds of eople who collected when the band started to play.

When the last organization passed the reviewing stand Chairman John Fernan stepped down and said: "I feel gratified at the showing made. It surpassed my most sanguine expectations. We must give the weather man part of the credit for the success of the demonstration. The best critic has little room to find fault."

Chief Marshal Frank Curran said: "I cannot express my feeling at being given such splendid support. It demonstrates that organized labor in Western Pennsylvania is powerful, despite the mistakes of strikes and other things which are detrimental to the trade movement. Organizations will soon be treated as a business institution by the employers, and then disturbances will be a matter of history fast fading from memory."

Speaking at Schenley Track.

The speaking was not delivered on the special platform erected for that purpose, but from the judges' stand at the Schenley park race track. Fully 7,000 people heard the speeches, which were interspersed by music by the Second Brigade band.

The principal address was delivered by W. B. Leonard of Cripple Creek, Col., a representative of the Western Federation of Miners. His remarks dealt on the condition leading to the strike which was followed by riot and bloodshed. His words were bitter from beginning to end, condemning the state officials and the mine owners. He frequently brought forth applause, and the crowd insisted he continue speaking over the limit of time allotted him.

He charged Gov. Peabody with hiring the state militia of Colorado to the mine owners, and charged that a postmaster in Colorado left his duties to take charge of a squad of men to fight the striking miners. He berated John D. Rockefeller, and said that when he gave $50,000 to a Baptist church he advanced the price of oil a quarter of a cent to make up for his gift.

The first address was delivered by the Rev. S. Edward Young of the Second Presbyterian church. He gave advice to the men to organize, run their organizations as though their living depended upon the proper management of them, and suggested that some of them seek some schemes to make fortunes, and then divide their profits with the other workmen. He asked that a poem be written and placed to music to be sung by the workmen the same as each country adopts a national anthem.

Brennen Opposes Open Shop.

W. J. Brennen said the demonstration of the day would call attention to what labor organizations have done and what they can do to encourage the timid, strengthen the hopeful, shame the non-union men and impress the public with the discipline, strength, courage, intelligence and earnestness of the labor movement. He spoke strongly against open shops. He declared it was a fraud and false pretense, intended as an open grave to organized employes; a veiled demand that organized labor shall disband, that organized employers may deal with their employes individually.

William H. Baird of the Order of Railway Conductors spoke upon the fine showing made in the parade, and urged the workmen to organize.

The sports at the Schenley park race tracks closed the program. The events were the best held on Labor day for many years. The last two Labor days it rained, thus spoiling the tracks and preventing the program being carried out. Chairman Kelley of the sports and prize committee said the weather and tracks could not be better for races, and the 15,000 people who viewed them were highly satisfied.

The sports did not begin until 4:15 and it was so dark when they ended that the contestants could barely be seen. The summary:

Half-mile run—Earl Born, first; Thomas Reno, second.

120-yard dash, ladies—Mrs. Thomas Moore, first; Mrs. George Little, second.

One mile run—Earl Born, first; Henry Miller, second.

Ladies' egg and spoon race—Miss Tillie Miehaumer, first; Miss Berry, second.

One mile bicycle race—J. H. Hannan, first; J. S. Engel, second.

100-yard dash—William Martin, first; Duncan Thompson, second.

Sack race, 50 yards—Harry Shiffler, first; James McKirby, second.

Fat ladies' race, 7 yards—Mrs. Thomas Moore, first; Miss Schutz, second.

Three-mile bicycle race—James Maloney, first; J. H. Hannan, second.

Five-mile run, professional—E. C. McClelland, first; Soldier Barnes, second. Barnes was given a mile handicap by McClelland and was beaten by 4 seconds. McClelland's time was announced as 30 minutes 20 seconds.

There was also a greased pig race. About 600 people chased the beast and it was run against a fence and the life trampled out of it. Mat Golden, a boy, hung to the carcass, but he had not been entered and the managers would not let him keep it.

The starters were N. G. Glass, E. A. Magtun, J. A. Connell and William McGarvey. The judges were E. C. McClelland, William Smith, Frank Boultman, T. E. Friedman and A. J. Hurley.

Under the auspices of the McKeesport council of labor the day was duly celebrated in the Tube City. Practically the entire city took a holiday. One of the greatest features of the day was the street parade in the morning with 5,000 men in line. Organizations from various points up the Monongahela and Youghiogheny valleys within the jurisdiction of the McKeesport council participated. About 10,000 persons filled Olympia park during the afternoon and evening, where a lengthy and interesting program of events was given by the council. In the afternoon there were two ball games and many other sports. The winners were awarded prizes by the business men of the city. In the evening Mayor G. J. F. Falkenstein delivered an address, as did H. S. Greenwald, chief marshal of the parade; L. L. Martin, L. H. Haberstroch and other prominent labor leaders.

PARADE KEPT STUDENTS FROM ALL PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Enrollment Fell 10,000 Short of the Expected 50,000, but Absentees Will Soon Show Up.

The enrollment of Pittsburgh public school pupils fell 10,000 short of the expected 50,000 yesterday, but the falling off is only temporary for the circus parade began just about the time school opened and Supt. Samuel Andrews' estimate that 10,000 children looked at the parade instead of going to school, is considered conservative.

"Tomorrow, however," said Prof. Andrews, "the enrollment will be about complete, although the fact that the warm weather of the last few days has kept many families in the country, may delay the coming of some children."

"The central board of education will have no official knowledge of the number of pupils until the reports of the month have been received," said Secretary Charles Reisfar, Jr. "To judge from our experience in the Central High school the enrollment will be large."

Because it was a legal holiday no regular school session was held. The children merely reported at the school houses, were assigned to their rooms and at 10 o'clock were dismissed.

The Allegheny schools opened for the term and it is believed by Supt. John Morrow that the enrollment will be record-breaking. There was a great gathering at the High school, attendance was large at the ward schools and even in the kindergarten department an unusually large number of pupils is expected within the week.

The schools in nearly all the boroughs of the county opened for short sessions and reports indicate a large enrollment.

RUSSIAN BEAR THROTTLED

at Benitzu, about 30 miles northeast of Liao-Yang. This column is endeavoring to get in between the Russian army and Mukden. It is against this movement that Kuropatkin has dispatched Lieut.-Gen. Renenkampff with a strong Cossack division which, it is believed, is already blocking the eastern high road.

"Kuropatkin has three roads over which he is marching towards Mukden, besides the double-tracked railway. The latter is chiefly occupied in the transporation of guns and of equipment, of which there is a great quantity. The soldiers are marching in light order, and most of the wounded have already been dispatched north by rail.

"Gen. Kuropatkin in a telegram to the general staff filed at 1 p.m. September 5, north of Yentai, says the Japanese on Sunday engaged his rear guard south of Yentai, the fight continuing until Monday. The telegram details the precautions taken to checkmate the Japanese flankers.

Losses Given as 16,000.

"Kuropatkin estimates his losses up to and including September 4 at 16,000. This is considered to be a very conservative figure. The loss to the Japanese probably will be double this number, owing to their position as attackers. Kuropatkin says nothing regarding the loss of guns, but it is probable that some of the heavier emplaced guns at Liao-Yang had to be abandoned, rumor has it 200.

"There is no truth either in the report that Kuropatkin has been wounded, or that Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch is moving to his support. Gen. Linevitch is still at Vladivostok.

"According to the military authorities all Kuropatkin's hopes and plans for victory were dashed by the wonderful celerity with which Oyama's right pushed northward after crossing the Taitse river. Here Kuropatkin's information evidently was faulty in believing that he had before him the whole of the Japanese forces which had crossed over to the right bank.

"He had already completed a preliminary bombardment of Kuroki's forces Friday, and was about to strike him, when he discovered that another Japanese column had crossed the river farther up stream. He then worked around still farther northward. The latter column was marching with great rapidity westward to cut the railroad and close the door on the Russian retreat to Mukden. Just at this point there is a hiatus in the reports. Whether Kuropatkin actually attempted to deliver a blow against Kuropi is not clear. At all events if he did he was compelled to desist upon the discovery of the northerly Japanese column. The latter took him by surprise.

Stakelberg Saves Orloff.

"Gen. Orloff's division, which suffered so severely, had just arrived from European Russia. This division was thrown into confusion and lost a frightful number of men.

"In the meantime, Kuroki freed from Kuropatkin, marched hastily westward to intercept Gen. Stakelberg, who was crossing the river from the left bank. It was then that Kuropatkin thought Stakelberg's corps was lost and so reported to the war office. But Kuroki was too late. Stakelberg not only succeeded in getting his corps across but marched at high speed 30 miles to Yen-Tai, actually arriving in time to come to the support of the hard-pressed Orloff.

"The emperor has undergone a great strain during the past week. His main fear during the last few days has been that Kuropatkin would be cut off. Like his subjects, the emperor has taken Kuropatkin's defeat greatly to heart. His answer to the battle of Liao-Yang will be the mobilization of two more army corps. So far as can be learned, the emperor shows no disposition to blame Kuropatkin.

"The new mobilization decided upon is expected to be announced in the latter part of this week. It will include the Eighth army corps, stationed at Odessa.

MUST TAKE FORTRESS AT WHATEVER COST

Transports Bearing 20,000 Reinforcements Are Now on Way to Port Arthur's Beseigers.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

TOKYO, Sept. 5.—Port Arthur is to be taken with the least possible delay. Twenty thousand fresh men have been sent from home to reinforce Gen. Nogi, and the transports bearing the first of them should be near Dalny today. In addition to this, there will be heavy reinforcements sent from the north as soon as Kuropatkin has been definitely disposed of.

The investing army will be brought up to 100,000 men, and then, regardless of cost, the fortress will be taken. By the time the present movement against Kuropatkin has been concluded his army will be a negligible quantity for this campaign, if it is not destroyed absolutely, and there is still strong hope that this latter will be the final report of Marshal Oyama.

The capture of Port Arthur will then be the only part of the campaign planned before the war began which will not have been accomplished. The fall of the fortress is considered essential to the full fruition of Japan's efforts. When it is accomplished the general staff will be content to take things easy until winter sets in.

JAPANESE WOUNDED GROUND UNDER FOOT

Were Compelled to Lie Where They Fell Between Firing Lines at Liao-Yang.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

YENTAI, Sept. 3.—(Delayed by the censor until September 5.)—At the time of the Japanese bombardment of the railroad station the ambulances were in the rear of the station from where it was impossible to move them. A shrapnel shell, which burst over the station, wounded two nurses, one of whom has since died.

The hottest fighting was on August 30 and 31. Ammunition could not be brought quickly enough, and the Russians at times actually stoned their assailants. Many companies had all of their officers killed or wounded.

Many of the Japanese wounded fell between the lines. They lay most of the day and night exposed in the line of fire. Our skirmishers fell on many of them while pursuing the retreating Japanese, and when they could gave water to them, but had to leave them to be run over by the succeeding waves of the Japanese attacks.

Gen. Morozovesky, who was on the firing line the whole time, sat down with a Cossack picket in the shelter of the trees for a cup of tea and a biscuit. The Japanese artillery suddenly swept the woods with their fire and a shell burst, wounding the general in the leg and tearing off his orderly's arm.

TWO ITALIANS ARE DYING; RIOT OCCURS OVER GIRL

Beauty, While With an Escort, Spoke to Other Men and This Started the Trouble.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Joseph Faiano and Albert Fetteri are dying in St. Vincent's hospital, and Carino Malifrone, also somewhat battered, is in the Mulberry street police station, owing to a quarrel over an Italian beauty.

The girl, with an escort, was walking along Mott street today when two Italians standing in front of a cheap cafe spoke to her. Her escort, also an Italian, immediately started a fight. All three men drew knives. The girl was trying to pacify them when a buggy containing two men drove up. Without apparent cause one of the men in the buggy began to lash those fighting on the sidewalk with the whip. The lash struck Carino Malifrone across the face, and with a cry of rage Malifrone drew a revolver. He had no sooner fired at the two in the buggy than they in turn drew revolvers and fired into the crowd. A mob collected and fighting became general, revolvers being used freely on all sides.

LABOR DAY MAY RENDER MANY SUITS INVALID

HOLLIDAYSBURG, PA., Sept. 5.—In court, Attorney N. P. Mervine moved to quash the ejectment suit of Thomas Thompson vs. Charles Lambeck because the writ had been made returnable on Labor day, a legal holiday. The court granted a rule. If the attorney's argument prevails 300 Altoona city municipal license suits, which were also returnable today, will be quashed.

Fall Broke His Back.

SCOTTDALE, PA., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—John Klingensmith, while placing the last brick for the chimney at the home of Chief Engineer J. P. K. Miller of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, today, fell from a 30-foot ladder to the second story. A small scratch on his face was the only visible wound, but the man was entirely paralyzed, his spine having been fractured. He was taken to the Mt. Pleasant Memorial hospital.

JAPANESE GENERALS LOSE SONS IN BATTLE

Among Dead at Liao-Yang Are Lieuts. Teraouchi, Fukushima and Murata.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

TOKYO, Sept. 5.—Among the Japanese officers reported killed in the battle of Liao-Yang are Lieut. Teraouchi, a son of Lieut.-Gen. Teraouchi, minister of war, and Lieuts. Fukushima and Murata, the former a son of Maj.-Gen. Fukushima of the general staff, the latter of Maj.-Gen. Murata, commander of Sasebo fortress.

It is believed here that Gen. Kuropatkin's next stand will be made at Mukden, although there is defensible grounds south of there.

Field Marshal Yamagata, chief of the general staff, and Lieut.-Gen. Teraouchi were the hosts at a banquet given tonight in honor of the Liao-Yang victory. The guests included the imperial princes, the members of the cabinet and the elder statesmen, the staff officers of the army and navy departments, and chiefs of bureaus.

Tokyo is illuminated again tonight, and there were lantern processions in the principal streets.

Riot on Labor Day.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Persons in the Labor day parade today attacked motormen and conductors on a line of blocked street cars for trying to break the line of the parade to get their cars through. A number of persons were injured and the city's main thoroughfare was in the hands of a mob for half an hour until the police gave assurance the cars would not move.

First Labor Day Parade of Independent Workmen

CRIPPLE CREEK, COL., Sept. 5.—Labor day was observed here with a parade of 3,000 independent workmen. It was the first time in the history of the camp that the union men failed to parade, and probably the first observance in America of Labor day by strictly non-union men. Banners reading, "They Can't Come Back," "Cripple Creek Is Still in America" and "We Don't Hire Salaried Agitators" were carried. Army officials, the fire company and the local militia participated.

Used Upright Pianos

The list of used upright pianos in stock today is somewhat different from that of one week ago. Many of the pianos listed then have been sold. Others have come in from rent or on exchange, so that the stock is about the same in numbers.

We have no piano at $75 this week, but there are two excellent small uprights at in good condition, which will go to first comers.

There are also good bargains at $100, $110 and $125. A few very unusual offerings at $200 in very high grade pianos—little used—is a feature of this week's stock.

We are anxious to get all the room possible before the arrival of new fall stock—hence these very low prices.

Weber, Mathushek, Mendelssohn, Decker Bros., Fischer, Chickering, Hardman, Howard, Willard, Hallet & Davis and other well known names are to be found in the lot.

Easy monthly payments, if you wish. You may any of the above pianos.

Rentals on some as low as $3 per month. Ask for details of rental plan, whereby rent applies on purchase price.

Signs of Disease

The First Signs of Disease are a Poor Complexion, Weakness, Emaciation and Lack of Vitality.

The first sign of returning health is increase of flesh, strength and vigor. This weakness, emaciation and lack of vitality simply means that certain substances, which go to make up the blood and nerves, have become exhausted; and to renew flesh, muscle and strength, these substances must be restored. Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food is composed of the same kind of substances that are lacking in the impoverished blood and nerves when in poor health, and abundant in the rich juices that flow through the system when in perfect health. If people would take this food occasionally when in health to keep their blood and nerves in good condition, many spells of sickness and wasting disease would be prevented. It makes sick people well, puts solid flesh and muscle on thin people, gives strength to weak people, restores the lost vitality to nervous people, imparts the tint of health to pale and sallow people. It adds years to life and puts life into years. Price 50 cents. Book free.

DEATH CLAIMS SENATOR PATTON

Clearfield Statesman Succumbs to Heart and Lung Trouble After an Illness of a Day.

WAS A BIG COAL OPERATOR

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]
CURWENSVILLE, PA., Sept. 5.—Senator Alexander Ennis Patton died at his home here this morning. His death was caused by lung and heart trouble. He had been ill less than a day.

The death of Senator Patton removes one of the most prominent and wealthiest citizens of the central part of the state. Much of the credit for the development of the coal and railroad interests of this section is due him. Of late he had been broadening his field and was one of the chief promoters of the great Chicago freight tunnels, just being completed. In most of his business enterprises he was associated with James Kerr.

Senator Patton was born in Curwensville, October 20, 1852, being a son of the late John Patton, who represented the Clearfield district in the Thirty-seventh and Fiftieth congresses. The senator received his education in Dickinson seminary, Chester Military academy and Phillips academy, Andover, Mass. When 19 he went to Iowa, where for six years he engaged in farming and the nursery business. In 1877 he returned to Curwensville and accepted a position in the Curwensville bank. At the time of his death he was the president of the institution.

Senator Patton always took a great interest in educational institutions, and especially in the common schools. In the last session of the legislature he was one of the champions of the bill fixing the minimum salary of teachers at $35 a month. It was largely through his efforts that this measure became a law. For a number of years he had been a trustee in Dickinson college and a director in Dickinson seminary.

In politics Senator Patton had always been an ardent Republican, and while frequently urged to accept public office, he always declined until 1902, when he accepted the senatorial nomination in the Thirty-fourth district, composed of the counties of Clearfield, Center and Clinton. The Democrats were in control of the district, but Mr. Patton reclaimed it for the Republicans, being elected by a majority of 2,000. In 1896 he was one of the electors-at-large. There were few members of the last legislature who were more attentive to their legislative duties than Senator Patton. Recently there had been frequent mention of him as a Republican candidate for governor.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Methodist Episcopal church of Curwensville, Rev. Mr. Mooser, pastor of the church, officiating. The list of pallbearers has not yet been completed.

PULLED HER RIVAL'S HAIR.

Two Women Engage in Fight in a Down Town Street Over a Man.

Mrs. Kate Smith of 49 Excelsior street, South Side, and Minnie Bennett of Glassport, engaged in a hair pulling contest yesterday afternoon at Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, because the latter was with Mrs. Smith's husband, Ruel Smith, and as a result all were taken to Central station. A special hearing was held and Smith was fined $25 and costs for striking his wife.

Smith and his wife have separated and Smith is supposed to pay alimony. This money has not been forthcoming for some months. Smith is employed by the Bennett woman at Glassport in her hotel, known as the Savoy. Mrs. Smith was with her daughter and a sister when they met Smith.

Mrs. Smith asked her husband to send the money due her. The Bennett woman interfered, which enraged Mrs. Smith, who clutched her by the hair. Smith separated them.

The incident created considerable excitement and the fighting women were surrounded by almost 1,000 persons.

FOREIGN SERVICE MEN'S MEET.

Men from the State of Washington Send Word of Their Coming.

There will be a special meeting of the committee of arrangements in connection with the second annual convention of the American Veterans of Foreign Service, at the headquarters of the organization in the Ferguson block, this afternoon.

Word was received at headquarters yesterday that the local post of Seattle, Wash., was coming 100 strong, every man to be mounted on a mustang. All these men are expert horsemen, and their appearance in the big parade on Thursday, September 15, is expected to create a sensation.

"We have not raised the requisite fund for convention expenses," Chairman Metzger said last evening, "but the business men who have responded to our appeal have done so in the most liberal manner. I hope our financial committee will be able to raise the amount required within the next week. Ours is a big undertaking, but a gathering of this sort means much to Pittsburgh, so we want to make it a success in every way."

Arrested for Keeping Mum.

Ignatz Koszik and his wife of 1836 Colwell street were arrested yesterday for refusing to tell where they got 12 bars of babbit metal found in their cellar. A policeman noticed a wagon drive up to Koszik's house on Saturday night and dump the metal.

APPLE STEALING MAY COST A LIFE

Howard Bridges, Baltimore & Ohio Conductor, Shot in the Back by a Pole.

TWO MEN ARE UNDER ARREST

Howard Bridges of 117 Seventh street, Braddock, a freight conductor on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, is in the McKeesport hospital with a bullet in his back, and George Myesko and John Krupa, Poles, are locked up at the McKeesport police station as the result of an altercation over apples yesterday.

Bridges is conductor of a "mud" train, which has been doing some filling at Elrod, about a mile above McKeesport. It is alleged that he and other members of the work crews have been in the habit of stealing apples from a tree on the farm of Myesko, which lies along the railroad tracks. About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon Bridges was securing some apples when Krupa, who is employed by Myesko, ordered him to leave the place. The result was a fist fight.

Both men were battering away at each other and Bridges was getting the best of it, according to the story told to the McKeesport police, when Myesko appeared. He had a revolver and shot once, the shot striking Bridges in the back.

Bridges was taken immediately to the McKeesport hospital and the two Poles were arrested and locked up at McKeesport.

It was stated at the hospital last evening that it had been impossible up to that time to remove the bullet from Bridges' back, and the extent of the danger of his losing his life could not be determined.

CLERGY WERE IN SESSION.

Three Associations Met and Fate of Sunday Crusade Will Be Decided at Next Meeting.

Three ministerial associations met yesterday, the Methodist Episcopal, Baptist and Lutheran. The other associations did not convene because of Labor day. Next week all will hold sessions and it is expected at that time some action will be taken either to encourage or discourage the Allegheny County Sabbath association in the "blue law" crusade.

The ministerial associations of Pittsburgh are the parent bodies of the Sabbath association, the latter having been evolved from a union committee meeting consisting of delegates from the various associations. For this reason the responsibilities now confronted will devolve upon them.

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Cranston addressed the Methodist Episcopal gathering yesterday on church work in Porto Rico. He has just returned from a trip through that country.

"The Model Church" was discussed by the Rev. E. I. McKeever before the Baptist ministers. The speaker scored sensationalism in the pulpit and advocated doctrinal discourses.

In the absence of the Rev. J. B. Markward, who was to read a paper before the Lutheran meeting, in Trinity church, Allegheny, an open discussion was held on the Lutheran reunion to be held in Riverview park, Allegheny, on Thursday.

REPUTED POLISH PRIEST HELD FOR DRUNKENNESS

South Side Police Later Change Charge to That of Suspicious Character. Had Been Collecting Money.

Michael Werynski, who says he is a priest and who gives his home as Poland, is in the South Side police station on a charge of being a suspicious character. He was arrested at Carson and South Nineteenth street during the afternoon on a charge of drunkenness.

Later in the evening a representative of one of the Polish churches called at the police station and stated that the prisoner had been working among the Polish congregations and was a bogus priest, notwithstanding that he had papers upon his person purporting to be signed by a Polish bishop. The prisoner was alleged to have secured $17 yesterday from various members of Polish congregations. Upon this statement the charge was changed from drukenness to suspicious character.

SMALL GAIN IN CITY REVENUES

Receipts For First Seven Months Were About Even With Last Year.

EXPENDITURES MAKE DEFICIT

Although there was a gain of over $161,000 in revenues to the city by direct taxation for the first seven months of this fiscal year, from February 1 to August 31, over the same period of last year, the total revenues are only $1,000 in excess of last year. This is due to the great drop in revenue this spring from liquor licenses, delinquent taxes, water rents, receipts of the mayor's office, vehicle licenses and bank balances. There has been an appreciable gain from switches, markets and the department of charities, but the gains from these sources and from direct taxation, is offset by the losses.

Controller Larkin gave out yesterday a comparative statement of revenues for the first seven months of this year and of last year. He does not attempt to explain the gains or the losses, leaving the public to form its own conclusions, but does say this:

"On the whole, the showing is as good as could be expected, considering the depression in business."

The gain in direct taxes shows the effect of the heavy increases in valuations made by the assessors. This gain is the more notable in view of the fact that the tax levy this year was reduced from 15 to 12½ mills. The controller's statement shows that the revenues at the end of the year will be practically the same as last year, but his statement of expenditures, issued a few days ago, explains that the expenditures this year have increased about $30,000 a month over last year.

The fact that the revenues show no change and that the expenditures are gaining at the rate of $30,000 a month, indicates that the deficit this year will be between $300,000 and $400,000. The statement of revenues is as follows:

Stole Milk for Sick Father.

Because his earnings were not sufficient to buy milk for his sick father, and also to pay the expenses of his family, Frank Caskey, aged 12, living in Laurel avenue, stole a bottle of milk from a doorway. At No. 5 police station yesterday the boy said his father had been suffering from typhoid fever for eight weeks. The company whose milk he had taken refused to prosecute and offered to supply him from its dairy.

"Masher" Sent to the Workhouse.

Rosala Stallan was sentenced 30 days to the workhouse by Magistrate Kirby yesterday, on a charge of being a "masher." Special Officer George Carr of the Pennsylvania railroad arrested Stallan Sunday night for bothering several girls at the Twenty-first street produce yards.

What Educators Say Regarding the Actual Business College.

Prof. W. H. Sadler, President of the Business Educators' Association, said: "You have the only perfect system of actual business instruction, in fact, you struck the keynote of Actual Business Practice fifteen years ago."

Prof. Dolan, former Principal of the Ralston School, said: "Having examined your system of bookkeeping, I am convinced that it is based on true educational principles."

Prof. J. C. Smith, author of a work on bookkeeping, said: "You have the grandest thing every devised in our line of business."

Prof. C. B. Wood, Principal Pittsburgh High School, said: "I am convinced that you do teach by Actual Business Practice. You have a grand system of instruction; in fact, the best that I have ever seen."

Prof. C. W. Campbell, late President of the Youngstown Business College, said: "My commendation of the utility and superiority of your system of teaching bookkeeping and business—too much cannot be said in praise of it."

Prof. J. B. Jordan, author of Jordan's System of Bookkeeping, said: "Although I am an author of a text-book on the science of accounts, I think so much of your system of Actual Practice that I am anxious to secure your consent to use it in my college."

Prof. Steel, of Canton, O., said: "I have been teaching bookkeeping for twenty years; I have examined all systems, including yours, but your system is the best, and I desire to adopt it for use in my schools."

There is some doubt about securing for Allegheny county all of the distinguished speakers at first proposed for the campaign. This will cause some disappointment, of course, but no real injury will be done. Allegheny county is not doubtful territory, needs little campaign work to bring out its vote and will be willing, in a pinch, to forego the pleasure of having the great speakers if they appear to be needed elsewhere. Allegheny county's Republicanism is of the quality to make a sacrifice for the good of the cause.

Ex-Senator Washburne, just returned from Europe, declares the world's wheat crop will be 200,000,000 bushels short, the American production being one-half that amount less than normal. He predicts high prices on this cereal and that other foodstuffs will advance in sympathy. Ex-Senator Washburne is exceptionally well informed regarding wheat conditions, having made a life study of the business, but it is probable he overestimates the effect of the shortage on prices. Fruit is plentiful and cheap this year, potatoes abundant, and the corn crop may yet improve before it is harvested. These things will tend in the opposite direction from the wheat shortage. Higher prices, however, are probable.

It requires just such a catastrophe as happened in New York on Sunday to call attention to the laxity in enforcing the building laws. In this case 14 lives were lost because the fire escapes were blocked and the repairs on the building necessitated the tearing down of the stairway from the first to the second floor. Meanwhile the tenants were allowed to remain. In such cases it is evident that criminal carelessness is not only chargeable to the owner of the building and the contractor, but also to the city building department for allowing such a situation to exist. The penalty for such gross neglect is entirely inadequate and does not prevent all sorts of chances being taken in cases which are likely to result disastrously. Better laws, however, would be no improvement unless enforced.

If the charges made against the German officials in Southeast Africa be true it is evident that the Hereros are justified in rebelling. According to the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin, natives have been flogged to death and maltreated in various other ways. Such charges are worthy of the closest investigation before being accepted as true, as it seems unbelievable that such things could happen in this enlightened age. But if the charges are not false, the Germans can only subjugate the Hereros by exterminating them. Even people of the lowest grade of civilization will fight for justice, and there can be little justice where flogging is the penalty for small offenses. Evidently the kaiser has delegated his work in Africa to a very poor class of officials. Nearly every move made there has been replete with error, and the German taxpayers will have a heavy financial burden to bear as a result.

City Controller John B. Larkin's statement of city revenues for the seven months of the fiscal year is interesting. There is an increase over last year in the returns from direct taxation, owing to the higher valuations of the triennial assessment, but a decrease in other items, so that up to September 1 the receipts from all sources were but little more than $4,000 in excess of those for the same period last year. The shortage of funds has been caused by larger expenditures. These have exceeded those of last year by about $30,000 a month and it is difficult to see what the city has been getting for the money. There would be small public objection to liberal expenditures if accompanied by obvious returns in public safety, good, clean streets, pleasurable parks, adequate sewerage and, in general, good administration.

Chicago is adding another frill to its educational system. The teachers will take upon themselves the duty of teaching the pupils those things which every country boy knows better than the average Chicago teacher, the habits of the squirrels and chipmunks, the hawks and the hens, the cows and the pigs, and will probably also tell them that the way to catch a squirrel is "to climb a tree and make a noise like a nut." Chicago can be depended upon to take up all the new ideas it can find before taking the trouble to digest the old ones. To be sure it is a good scheme to teach the children all these beautiful things about natural history, but the children could much sooner learn them if turned loose in the woods and the fields for a few weeks each summer. If they could get by the "keep off the grass" signs in the parks of Chicago they could learn a lot of useful things about bugs and birds and possibly squirrels. Meanwhile the school teachers could busy themelves with other things that may prove more useful and equally ornamental.

Kuropatkin Is Caught.

Late reports from St. Petersburg are of less hopeful tone than those of yesterday, and indicate that Gen. Kuroki's forces have made good their flanking movement against the demoralized Russian army. There is yet some confusion in the reports. One represents the entire Japanese force as having crossed the Taitse river near the mouth of the Pentse—a tributary that joins the main stream about 12 miles east of Liao-Yang—and another says the bulk of the Japanese force is marching direct upon Mukden. Another says the Russian rear guard has been practically annihilated.

It is unreasonable to suppose the armies of Oku and Nodzu could have crossed the river at the point indicated and gotten ahead of the fleeing divisions of Kuropatkin's army. So the probable explanation is that they crossed the river and came up with the Russian rear guard, which was being retarded by one of Gen. Kuroki's columns, while Kuroki's remaining columns are the force that is marching on Mukden. Those columns began crossing the Taitse river last Thursday to envelope the Russian left and are probably now accomplishing their object. St. Petersburg admits the gravest apprehension that the Russian army has been caught and will suffer complete disaster.

The surprising feature of this news is the energy of the Japanese in this pursuit after the extremely arduous work of the past two weeks. It speaks volumes for the physical endurance of the yellow men that they are yet able to outmarch the Russians in retreat, for terror lends strength to defeated legs as a rule. And if the Japanese have fully caught up, the destruction of the Russian army is certain, bringing the first stage of the Manchurian campaign to an end. The next movement will be to complete the taking of Port Arthur, and then Japan will be ready to propose peace.

Judging from information given out soon after the war began, the Japanese plan will be to occupy Mukden, the ancient capital of the Manchu dynasty, propose peace terms to Russia and offer to surrender possession of the old capital to China. Gen. Ma, with more than 100,000 Chinese troops, has been moving up the west side of the Liao-Ho, his ostensible purpose being to protect the neutrality of territory on that side of the river. He is in position to move into possession of Mukden as soon as the word is given. It may be no part of the Japanese plan to involve China in the further proceedings, but it is not difficult to see the strength of position it might gain by putting Mukden in possession of Gen. Ma and holding Marshal Oyama's forces just south of that point to assist in repelling Russia, should it advance again for the further occupation of Southern Manchuria. It has declared the purpose to restore Manchuria to China. It has agreed to not violate Chinese neutrality beyond the necessary zone of war. If it now turns over Manchuria to China, will it not be justified in assisting China to maintain its sovereignty on the ground that it is protecting China's neutrality?

Lesson of the Depression.

With the resumption of many mills after more or less prolonged idleness for repairs it is apparent the depression in the iron and steel trades has not been as serious as the general public has believed. Compared with the first half of last year the output for the first six months of this year shows a marked falling off. Compared with the last half of 1903 the first half of this year shows an actual increase in the production of bituminous pig iron. The anthracite and charcoal iron markets have not been so prosperous. Not only has there been an increase in the production of bituminous pig, but there has been a reduction in stocks of the same. This is shown by the official statistics of the American Iron and Steel association and is well known to the trade. Thus the output for the last six months of 1903 was, in bituminous districts, 7,191,220 tons, while for the first half of 1904 it was 7,337,279 tons. Stocks of bituminous pig, December 31, 1903, were 407,881 tons, and on June 30, 1904, they were 381,201 tons. By the same authority there were no stocks in Allegheny county at the end of June.

These statistics take on significance in the light of the fact that coke producers are firing new ovens and the iron producers are blowing in additional furnaces. Railroads are moving more freight and the movement is particularly heavy in coal and ore. There is no boom, but there is no great depression. There are signs of general recovery of activity that needs only the harvesting of ordinary crops and their marketing to set in full motion. The Gazette has persistently refused to share in the pessimistic estimates of conditions made by some who are content with nothing short of the abnormal rush that prevailed two years ago. It has been repeatedly pointed out that the financial conditions of the country are exceptionally good and that there is no lack of confidence in the currency or in the future. These things afford a firm foundation for the business fabric, and when the prime movers have rested from their prodigious efforts of recent years there is no obstacle to a rapid recovery in every line of industrial and commercial energy.

Undoubtedly the pause of the past 12 months has been beneficial to many. It has given a needed opportunity to rest after the high pressure race and has been a forceful reminder to the nation that teeming prosperity cannot remain always. It suggests to every individual that in the good time coming it will be wise to put some of the usufruct by for the next pinch. It is especially pertinent to ponder this fact amid the signs of increasing activity and for probable investors to get a firm hold of the truth that prices do not advance perpetually. If this lesson could be thoroughly learned the booms of the future would be less exuberant and the resulting collapses less severe than in the past.

Labor Day.

Labor day was celebrated in Pittsburgh with enthusiasm, and was generally observed by all classes of the population. Pittsburgh is a central home of labor. Almost every man in this region labors with his hands or head as many hours a day as is good for him and takes his holidays with zest. It is then, not to be wondered at that Labor day, the special holiday created in honor of the nobility of toil, is observed by all Pittsburghers as one of the most important of the year.

Possibly some objection may be made to the fact that so many spend the day in frivolous enjoyment, without giving a thought to its significance. They might desire that a feature be made of speechmaking or readings upon the theme of the dignity of labor, or upon the aim to make each man's calling higher, nobler or more interesting. But that objection has small foundation. The holiday itself suggests those things, and the man or woman who has given long hours every day for weeks to the serious business of life is better for a day of frivolous amusement and rest from ordinary cares. They will go back to mill, or factory, or shop today with more relish for the task before them than if they had spent all of the day listening to erudite outgivings upon the nobility of their callings. It has been a good Labor day, eloquent of the numbers and strength and purpose of the labor army. Let it go at that.

Return of Gamblers.

Somewhat different from the ordinary was the so-called "parade of the blind men" at the court house yesterday. One, at least, was not blind. He returned so many illegal resorts in his bailiwick that the assistant district attorney asked him what was the matter with his territory. The constable replied truthfully that he thought his ward no worse than others, except that it had been better "found out." In other words, he agreed with the philosopher who divided evil doers into two classes: the caught and the uncaught.

Constable Glenn of the Seventh ward returned about thirty transgressions against the law, chiefly gambling and the illegal sale of intoxicants. His attention to his duties is highly commendable, and it may be taken for granted the district attorney's office will show its appreciation by following the officer's returns by vigorous investigation and prosecution. There has been considerable trouble over the gambling houses in that and adjoining wards. The time is ripe for closing them and putting some proprietors where they may be kept out of mischief for a time at least.

It is possible that gambling may never be wholly suppressed, unless human nature is modified, but it is within the police power of the state to prevent its encouragement by closing every joint where games are run for the enticement of the unwary and the profit of the man who owns the "lay-out." Gambling rooms are an injury to the community, and there is absolutely no ground for the special plea that they are a necessary evil. There is no excuse for their existence, and it would be to the credit of other constables if they were as active in locating them as the man from the Seventh ward.

Osgood (Ind.) girls keep a catalongue of the misdoings of the unmarried men in the town. But that will not interfere with the matrimonial prospects of the aforesaid young men. Each girl will decide to marry and reform whichever reprobate strikes her fancy.

The Mississippian who blew up his mill with dynamite because his employes wanted a raise in wages has hardly set a precedent that many mill owners will follow. He settled the trouble, but like the man who cut off his nose to spite his face.

If the powers interfere in the affair in Manchuria we will demand that a new map be made and all the towns, rivers and mountains be renamed. We want to be prepared for the next drama in that section.

The Texas woman who killed the man she fired at, as well as a bystander, would win the prize at a Texas beauty show, for her marksmanship alone, no matter how much beauty she may not have.

Those military experts who said the day of the saber and bayonet was past evidently knew about as much about what was likely to happen at Liao-Yang as did Kuropatkin—and not a bit more.

The kaiser, evidently jealous of the prominence the newspapers are giving the czar, announces that his son is about to be married. Cupid always was more popular than Mars.

Somebody ought to pay the penalty for the carelessness that caused the loss of life in that New York tenement fire. Punishment will deter further neglect of the same sort.

If they continue to discipline ball players for merely saying things to the umpire the time will soon come when one good old joke will have to be laid on the shelf.

If it proves true that the German authorities in Southeast Africa are flogging natives to death, the Hereros may later be called heroes—and martyrs.

If that Memorial hall project does not advance a little more rapidly there will be few veterans who will live to realize the dream.

We are at least glad that the Porktown Reds did not live up to their name and piggishly take both Labor day games.

Russia still rejects peace. Annihilation abroad seems to be preferred to internal war that is likely to follow defeat.

Stakelberg escaped annihilation, but is in for court-martial for disobeying orders. He may be sorry he escaped.

The settlement of the butchers' strike seems to be coincident with the fall of Port Arthur—always tomorrow.

Let Kuroki and Kuropatkin take a back seat for a few days. Gen. Corbin has taken the field at Manassas.

There will be a strike of office boys if circus day and labor day are allowed to fall together again.

The czar is thinking of going to the front. A fast horse will be salable if he decides to go.

Talked of in Gotham

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—New York was today in "holiday array." "Labor's hosts" covered all the principal streets and every headline. Thousands of "sturdy sons of toil" covered the "line of route," and, if the "U" strike materializes the rest of the population will walk tomorrow. All the pleasure resorts today were patronized, a combination of legal holiday and fine weather being deservedly popular. Coney Island, as usual, was especially crowded—which draws attention to the fact that wicked little Coney is backsliding and there were evidences today of the interesting flim games on the beach that made the place famous or notorious in days gone by. All the old familiar bunco games can be found by anybody but the police. This is to be regretted, for the new Coney Island is good to look upon and the big entertainment places are as great an improvement on the rookeries they displaced that one could wish that the moral tone would continue to be as much higher than that formerly existing.

Labor Day Reaches Its Majority.

It has been pointed out by one of the local papers that this is the 21st birthday of Labor day and now that it is of age it ought to vote. Tomorrow the politicians will continue their instructions as to how it should vote. The spellbinders are preparing for the road. They turn out spellbinders at the rate of a dozen an hour at two Broadway establishments. At No. 596 Broadway there is found the headquarters of the Roosevelt and Fairbanks National Commercial league, and at No. 537 Broadway, which, as the clever reader will at once appreciate, is on the other side of the street and almost opposite, there is situated the Commercial Travelers' Democratic League of America. The first has a quartet and the second has a brass band, and it is a toss up as to which makes the most noise. Their music always precedes a brand of oratory that tempts the wayfarer indoors for as many as several minutes.

Young America in the Campaign.

The New York small boy appears to be taking a great interest in the coming campaign. He has marching clubs of his own and on the East Side he occasionally boasts a band that is pretty nearly all right. Today the youngsters in the neighborhood of Canal and Elizabeth streets organized a labor parade of their own, which interested the residents for a couple of hours. It is true that the kids lacked uniforms, or banners, but they made noise enough with improvised megaphones to satisfy lovers of brass bands.

"Baiting" Neighborhood Butts.

The New York small boy occupies a position peculiar to himself. Until very recently he has been called upon to provide all his own entertainment, and to find it on the crowded streets. One of the relaxations of the small boy has ever been to annoy the unfortunate. Every village has its butt. New York is a fairly large village. I suppose that nearly every ward in Manhattan has a crazy man or a chronic drunk which a merciful Providence has provided for the small boy so that he shall not suffer from ennui. There is some measure of danger in taunting a crazy man—which is probably why the youngsters enjoy it so much. The fact is only worthy of notice because of the indifference displayed by the adults who look on while the baiting is proceeding. Elsewhere the kids are discouraged invariably when they annoy some unfortunate, but I have yet to see them interfered with here when they "bait the butt." And one cannot go to the poorer parts of the town without seeing some unfortunate badgered by the heartless little cusses, for the baiting is a daily diversion.

Other Risks of the Juveniles.

The New York small boy risks his life daily in other ways. He plays in the crowded streets and dodges trucks with an ease born of a young life's experience; he plays on the flat roofs, and it is a not uncommon sight to see a boy standing on the top of a chimney flying a kite. And while one wonders why he does not keep the coroner busy, one realizes that he is born into an atmosphere of danger. Everywhere one sees children sprawling over the window sills 50 feet above the ground.

Work of Civic Authorities.

But the New York kid of today is better off than the New York kid of yesterday. Nowadays he has recreation days a-plenty. Here there are swings and horizontal bars and ladders, and in some places baseball grounds. Also, he has been provided with free baths at irregular intervals along the shores of the two rivers. And right here it may be noted that the small boy needs a bath six times as much or six times as often as the small girl. At all events the girl has the privilege of the free baths only one day in seven. But, my, doesn't she make use of it! There is always a long line of her at the door with her bathing clothes under her arm, waiting for the other bunch to come out. And so it keeps up all day. Also, be it remarked, some of the girls are neither small nor young.

Discrimination Against Girls.

Already notice has been taken of the fact that the small girl is discriminated against in the matter of playgrounds. Last week one small playground was set apart for girls alone. Even dolls are provided. And the small boy may look through the railings, but may not enter.

Barred Out of Grammercy Park.

Grammercy park is a private park and its use is confined to the residents of Grammercy square. The other morning I saw a number of the children of wealthy parents deporting themselves decorously on the lawn inside the park. And outside, peering through the railings, were half a dozen little ragamuffins with expressions on their faces as though they were looking into heaven, but knew they could not enter. Which is a pathetic little incident that would have considerable more point if it were not a fact that the little ragamuffins have parks of their own, and plenty of them, quite as good as Grammercy park. Moreover, there are recreation piers where the band plays every summer evening, and where the kids can play at any time.

First Municipal Sport Field.

Old Father Knickerbocker has begun to realize that he owes something to his children and the parks and piers and bands and things are tokens of his realization. The latest manifestation of his fatherly interest is a municipal athletic field, the first of its kind in the United States. He will open it on Saturday next at Pelham Bay park. Every athletic young man in the city may chip in and the most athletic among them will take the pot. That is to say, the board of aldermen is considering the advisability of having municipal medals awarded to the winners in the contests on the city athletic field. The idea originated with W. E. Schmitt, who is park commissioner of the Bronx. The field will be as well equipped as any athletic field in the country, and the events on the opening day are going to be "replete with thrilling interest."

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

When you want to go somewhere and are not certain as to the better way, you should go to someone whose business it is to know.

If we would always do this we would save ourselves a lot of time and trouble.

There are those connected with every important branch of business whose place it is to direct us in the way we should go. It is their duty to do this, and they may be depended upon, for if the work is of sufficient importance to justify their employment they must be efficient and reliable.

Take the railroad passenger agent as an example. He used to be simply a barker or runner-in, and was hardly to be depended upon. In many instances he was paid so much a head for passengers, and naturally enough he tried to run in as many as possible. Some of these, sometimes, ran people into their cars whom they should have turned over to some other agent.

It is not so now, if for no other reason than that the roads cannot afford to miscarry people.

You may not know it, but the fact remains that the passenger agent of the present day is the very best sort of fellow. He has to be or lose his job.

* * * * *

Some people have an idea that the genial passenger agent is only a smooth sort of liar. But such is not the case. He doesn't lie because he can't, but because he doesn't have to. In this particular he is unlike George Washington, no matter how much he may resemble the father of our country in other respects.

Whether he can lie, or whether he would if he had a fair chance, is neither here nor there, but the probabilities are that he would not, at least not for the purpose of deceiving you.

Suppose he was to lie to you, and thereby succeed in booking you for his line, you would discover the deception sooner or later and then it would be your turn to do the talking. If he had fooled you it would be fair to infer that he would fool others. With this argument you could knock him out of a lot of business.

Thus, as you can readily see, it pays the passenger agent to be truthful. But you must not conclude that he would not be just as truthful under other circumstances.

As a rule we are rather prone to suspect that men whose business it is to influence the public are honest only when honesty is the better policy.

Just suppose that you were a passenger agent, would you lie for the sake of booking a tourist or two?

* * * * *

In order to be successful the passenger agent must be a clever diplomat, for he will be brought in contact with all sorts of people, among whom there are liable to be bluffers, prevaricators and even liars; hence he must be all things to all men, or rather all sorts of things to all sorts of men, and women, too, for they can make all sorts of trouble, and be all sorts of bother.

Every particular railroad has its particular advantages, just as every life insurance company has certain good points peculiar to itself.

It is the business of the passenger agent to impress you with the advantages claimed by his route. If it happens to be a trifle shorter than others he dwells upon this fact. Nor is it hard for him to convince you that the tired feeling you have acquired on the journey will be cut short by that much.

Should his route be a trifle longer he has but to change his argument slightly to convince you of the truth of the old saying that the longest way around is the shortest way home.

And then by discoursing on the comfort and pleasure there is in traveling over his road he can make you wish it was even longer than it is, so that you might get still more pleasure and comfort out of your journey.

* * * * *

The successful passenger agent will not promise you the moon and then try to square himself by offering you a small green cheese. A barker or runner-in might do this, but not the passenger agent. He isn't built that way, nor could he afford to do so if he was, for you would be sure to kick so hard that it would hurt, and he don't like to be hurt, particularly in his business.

And as for politeness, why he's as polite as a basket of chips, as the saying goes.

By the way, that basket belongs in the foolish house, don't you think? Or should it read "a stack" of chips? Who started the saying, or where did it come from, anyway?

But no matter, you will find him polite and accommodating to a fault. He will even fix you in a sleeping car and buy a ticket for you, with your money, of course.

And if the trip shouldn't happen to pan out as well as you hoped and had been led to expect, he will kindly show you where you made the fatal mistake, and promise to insure you better luck next time.

Oh, he's all right, the passenger agent is, and you will say so yourself after you have met him and heard him talk, for he talks as sensibly as the best of them. Naturally he is a good deal wrapped up in his line, but you could hardly expect him to say it is only second best, even if that is what it is.

* * * * *

Whenever you want to go somewhere distant to which there is more than one route, drop a line to a passenger agent. He will do the rest. That is what he is for and you may as well use him as not and save wear and tear of your own precious nerves.

Besides, there is a lot of satisfaction in having someone to blame it on if your trip doesn't pan out as you had expected. It is a part of his business to bear such blame and to soothe your ruffled feelings.

As a soother he is a great success. In fact this is one of his strong holds.

Next to having an altogether pleasant trip is to be soothed, smoothed down and made to feel that it wasn't as you thought it was, or that it was all your own fault.

By all means throw yourself upon the mercy of a passenger agent and allow him to do the worrying over your baggage, buying tickets and the like. He gets paid for doing this, while you have to both worry and pay.

Don't be afraid to approach him. He won't shy, nor act ugly, nor fool you. He dare not, for his bread and butter depends on the careful, successful manner in which he handles you.

Successful passenger agents, like poets, are born and not made out of common clay. Of course they have to be finished off artistically, which sort of finish cannot be given to any old kind of mud.

The Death Roll

Charles Atwell.

Charles Atwell, aged 88, for many years active in business and financial circles in this city, died at 5:35 o'clock yesterday morning at his home in Linden avenue, Sewickley. Mr. Atwell had been in failing health since 1894, when he suffered a severe attack of nervous prostration. He was born in Ireland and was of English descent. When 16 years of age he came to this country with his family and settled on a farm in Ohio. In 1839 he secured a permanent position as clerk in the general store of Geo. Sloan, in Hanover, O., and later secured a partnership in the business. After accumulating some capital he opened a general store of his own and was successful. Mr. Atwell married the eldest daughter of Mr. Sloan and in 18— moved to Pittsburgh and became a member of the firm of Atwell, Lee & Co., wholesale grocers. He was later a member of the firm of Atwell & Lee and C. Atwell & Co. After being engaged in the business for 21 years he retired in order to permanently establish his eldest son in the firm of Colvin, Atwell & Co. of this city. Mr. Atwell during his active life acquired other interests outside the wholesale grocery business. He was a promoter and original stockholder of the Pittsburgh, Allegheny & Manchester Passenger Railway Company and later its president. He was also president of the Pittsburgh Union Railway Company for several years. From its early history he was connected with the Monongahela Insurance Company as a member of its board of directors. Mr. Atwell's chief pride was in the Union National bank of Pittsburgh, in which he served as director for 26 consecutive years, retiring on account of ill health. Mr. Beck was born on the South Side and was a director of the Iron and Glass Dollar Saving bank of the South Side. He is survived by four children, William, Robert, Mrs. L. F. Wentz and Mrs. Sarah Eurich, all residents of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Beck died 12 years ago.

BIGELOW RETURNS FROM MOUNTAINS

Will Superintend Finance Committee Meeting Today and Then Leave for Outing.

LARKIN KEEPS HIS SECRET

Director Bigelow returned to the city last night to superintend the proceedings of the finance committee of councils when it meets today, to take action on the filtration bond issue. The director has been at Ebensburg, Cambria county, for the benefit of his health, and he appears as if his 10 days' outing in the mountains had slightly improved him.

Director Bigelow thinks mountain air will make a still greater improvement in his condition and he announced last night that tomorrow he will return to Ebensburg to remain for a month, and possibly longer. Bigelow feels that his health is of more importance to himself than further legislation in councils, and said that he intended to leave councils alone, believing that they would not have a quorum for a month.

He said that the finance committee would likely pass a resolution today instructing Controller Larkin to advertise for bids on the $5,000,000 filtration bonds, and that the bonds would be issued in a lump. He would not venture an opinion as to what the controller may do. He said he was not giving thought to the traction ordinances in select council and did not believe they would come up for some time. Members of the opposition in select council, however, hold a different opinion.

"The ordinance, providing for the letting of the contract for the construction of the filter plant has been prepared and will be introduced in councils at the next meeting," said Director Bigelow. The ordinance provides for but one contract, the firm or person getting the contract to divide the work into subcontracts. Bigelow says this plan will hasten the building of the plant and make delay in the work less liable to happen, as one man will be made responsible. It is not expected that any actual work will be done this year, but all plans will be completed and the material made ready for an early start next year.

Daniel J. Bole, chairman of the finance committee, said last night that the administration program for today's meeting is to adopt a resolution instructing the controller to advertise for bids. The controller is the regular clerk of the committee but his assistant, E. S. Morrow, acts as clerk, and he will carry the instructions to Larkin. The latter will then announce his decision as to whether he will or will not carry out the instructions of the committee.

LOCAL STOCK DEALERS NOT AFRAID OF CHICAGO

Packers Here Said to Be Paying Higher Wages Than the Union Demands.

"No matter what develops in the Chicago strike situation today, or weeks hence, Pittsburgh will not be effected, so far as the meat supply is concerned," said Simon O'Donnell, manager of the Union stock yards, yesterday. He explained, further, that local packers are now paying more than the union scale; also, that in case the railroads should be tied up the supply of live stock in the immediate vicinity would be sufficient to meet demands for some time.

The supply at Herrs Island was light yesterday, but this was because shippers took into consideration demands would be light on holidays. The cattle receipts amounted to 2,700 head; the hog receipts were 6,000 head and the sheep receipts were 6,500 head. A big share of this was bought by local butchers. Officials of the Pittsburgh Provision Company say they have plenty of meat on hand. Best grades of live cattle sold about 25 cents higher than one week ago. Sheep were about the same as last week, but lambs, which are scarce at present, sold from 15 to 40 cents higher.

TEN THOUSAND ATTEND EXPO ON LABOR DAY

Creatore and Band Delight Immense Crowds With Whirlwind Music—Gives His Farewell Concert Tonight.

The exposition had the largest attendance yesterday of any day since the opening night. On the opening night there were 16,000 admissions and last night the visitors were estimated at fully 19,000. The crowd was swelled by the presence of many persons from out-of-town who came to attend the Labor day festivities and also to see the exposition. The concert hall was unable to accommodate the crowd, the outer aisles and the corridors being filled to their utmost capacity, hundreds not being able to get within good hearing distance.

The inside shows and the out-door places of amusement did an enormous business. Creatore, the musical whirlwind, and his wonderful band repeated their successes of previous days and often brought the immense audience to the highest pitch of enthusiasm.

Creatore plays his farewell concerts today, the afternoon double concert at 2 and 4, and the evening double concert at 7:30 and 9:30. An immense crowd is expected tonight to bid him adieu for the season.

John Philip Sousa, with his 50-piece band and 10 soloists, will be heard at the exposition for his first concert of the season tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and again in the evening at 7:30. The mention of the name of America's "March King" is almost sufficient. Everybody knows Sousa and his music. Sousa comes this year with many new soloists, and, it is said, some new compositions. This afternoon's concert programs follow:

CORPSE TOO LARGE FOR ANY HEARSE TO CONVEY

Peter Steef, the largest man on the South side, weighing nearly 400 pounds, died in the South Side hospital Sunday. He was 49 years of age and a widower. A special casket, 4x7 feet, was constructed for the corpse and a double grave dug. It is said that there is no hearse in the city large enough to convey the remains, which will be taken to the grave in a wagon. The funeral will take place from his late residence, 2716 Sarah street, today.

Thousands gathered about the judges' stand on the Schenley park race track oval to hear the principles of unionism enunciated.

CROATS' HEARING WAS POSTPONED

No Developments in Dispute Between Pastor and Congregation of St. Nicholas.

COMMUNICATION TO BISHOP

The fight between the Rev. Father Bosiljko Bekavac, pastor of St. Nicholas church, Allegheny, and the congregation that has been demanding his dismissal was at a standstill yesterday. The hearings of the eight members of the church who were arrested Sunday morning for disorderly conduct were postponed from last night until Thursday afternoon. Supt. Campbell of the Allegheny police said the change was made so that all witnesses to the disorder could be summoned. Those who are fighting the Rev. Father Bekavac declare the hearing was postponed because of political reasons.

Coadjutor Bishop J. F. Regis Canevin is out of the city and will not be back for a week. Nothing could be learned at the Epiphany house regarding what is to be done with the St. Nicholas church trouble. The building has been ordered opened by Bishop Canevin, and, unless instructions to the contrary a. issued, Father Bekavac says he will continue to conduct services regularly. Those who are fighting him, and demanding his resignation, declare that there will be no services in St. Nicholas church until Father Bekavac leaves.

The following circular was distributed yesterday among the members of the congregation: "We, the undersigned members of St. Nicholas congregation, deploring the disorders that have occurred in this parish, and the rebellious spirit manifested by some members of the same, by these presents declare our willingness to submit to the laws of this diocese and to the authority of the right reverend bishop, and the pastor assigned to us and we beg the right reverend bishop to reopen our church to divine services and, in return, we promise to remain obedient children of the church and subject to its laws in all things. We promise that the agitators of the present disorder shall not have charge of the management of the parish in any capacity."

The Rev. Father Bekavac said last night that this paper had been signed by 400 members of the congregation, and that it had been sent to Bishop Canevin.

It was said last night that a meeting of the congregation would likely be held tomorrow afternoon, at which it would be decided whether or not the congregation would go into the courts to decide the question.

CARDINAL GIBBONS SAYS UNIVERSITY IS SAFE

Catholic School at Washington Will Not Be Cramped by Waggaman Failure.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, Sept. 5.—Cardinal Gibbons today said he did not feel any anxiety over the future of the Catholic university in Washington, nor does he fear that its prosperity will be affected by the bankruptcy of Thomas E. Waggaman of that city, who was the depositary of large funds belonging to the university.

"I shall do everything in my power to assist the university," said the cardinal. "My interest in its success and prosperity is well known. There need be no apprehension that the work of the university will be impaired. There will be no diminution of its work; students will be taken as usual, and the courses will go on during the year precisely as if there had been no shrinkage in the Waggaman funds. There is money belonging to the university, which was not in the hands of Mr. Waggaman."

ONE MAN SHOOTS SIX PINK ZEBRAS

Four White Rats, Big as Wolves, and Two 15-Foot Rattlesnakes Also Killed.

THE NOISE STARTLES EAST END

Some rare specimens for the Carnegie museum were supposedly secured last night, when one of the best-known restauranteurs in the city shot with his revolver six pink zebras, four white rats as big as wolves and with green eyes, and two rattlesnakes, 15 feet long.

This wonderful collection was all landed in his room at his home in one of the East End streets. He secured one with each of 12 shots. The shooting created a great stir throughout his section of the city and neighbors ran in every direction for policemen. No one had had an idea up to that time that there was a remarkable menagerie in the immediate vicinity.

The more venturesome finally entered the restauranteur's apartment to discover a door looking like the top of a pepper box. Some one had spirited the dead animals away, apparently, for there was no doubt in the mind of the shooter that he had bagged his game.

After a while, by dint of the efforts of some friends, the uncanny creatures vanished from his mind and by midnight he was sleeping peacefully. The affair was the talk of many neighbors until a late hour.

Hyde and Dimond Will Be Tried.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Word was received by Judge Ryan, acting secretary of the interior, today that a writ of habeas corpus applied for in San Francisco by J. A. Hyde and William Dimond, who were indicted for land frauds last spring, had been refused. This removes the last bulwark between these men and their trial.

MORE GIFTS FOR JUDGE M'KENNA

Women Managers of Home at Hawkins Present Him With Two Loving Cups.

BIDS VETERANS FAREWELL

Judge Charles F. McKenna was treated to a double surprise last night on the eve of his departure for Porto Rico. The judge was the recipient of two beautiful silver loving cups. They came from the managers and ex-managers of the Ladies of the G. A. R. home at Hawkins, representing the boards of the last two years, the gifts being in recognition of Mr. McKenna's gratuitous services as attorney for the home since its organization 14 years ago.

The presentations were made at different places, the first in the parlors of the Hotel Henry at 7 o'clock in the evening, where nine women of the board of managers for the year 1904 met Judge McKenna by appointment and gave him a loving cup about a foot high of sterling silver and beautifully inlaid with gold. This cup bears the following inscription: "Presented to Charles F. McKenna by Ladies of the G. A. R. home board, September 3, 1904." The presentation speech was made by Mrs. Ellis Jones, secretary of the board, and Capt. A. B. Hay spoke also for the donors. Judge McKenna was taken completely by surprise, but he made a fitting response.

Two hours later, in the rooms of the Union Veteran legion No. 1, 229 Fifth avenue, he was presented with another loving cup by the ladies of Hawkins home, representing the board of 1903. This cup is smaller, but it is beautiful in design and workmanship. On the cup is inscribed: "Presented to Charles F. McKenna in appreciation for services rendered, from Ladies of G. A. R. home at Hawkins, Pa., 1903."

Mrs. M. E. Lucas, who was president of last year's board, made the presentation speech. Judge McKenna made another speech to this delegation of 14 women. Present also were members of the Union Veteran Legion, who had just concluded their regular Monday night meeting.

At the termination of this ceremony, the veterans marched in a body to the rooms of Col. Alexander Hays post, No. 3, in Fifth avenue, between Wood and Smithfield streets, where they held a fraternal meeting with members of Hays post to say farewell to Judge McKenna. Fifty or 60 old soldiers, all close friends of the judge, eulogized him and bade him godspeed to his new home in the tropics. James E. Parker, past commander of Hays post, presided.

Humorous, witty and touching speeches were made by Maj. Carline, Crosby Gray, Charles O. Smith, the Rev. Dr. N. H. Holmes, Edward Pritchard, and others, to which Judge McKenna responded, taking occasion to recall that he was the fourth member of the post to be distinguished by political favor—three members having been elected district attorney of Allegheny county.

The meeting adjourned with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne." Then the members swarmed around their departing comrade and warmly bade him farewell. Judge McKenna leaves Thursday and sails from New York for Porto Rico on Saturday. He has been richly loaded with gifts, having also been given a gold watch, fob and chain by his Pittsburgh friends at the banquet in his honor Saturday night.

Union Veteran Legion No. 1, at its meeting last night, adopted resolutions congratulating Judge McKenna on his appointment, and testifying to the esteem and affection in which he is held by his comrades, and to the honor bestowed upon the city of Pittsburgh by his appointment. The resolutions were presented by Maj. A. M. Carline.

BALTIC FLEET MOVEMENT DEPENDS ON PORT ARTHUR

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 5.—It is reported that the Baltic squadron will sail a week from date, by way of the Mediterranean, but that it will not proceed to the far east if Port Arthur falls.

PERSONALS

Another effort is to be made by organized labor to have the state capitol building erected by organized workmen, in preference to non-union men. A conference is to be held in Philadelphia by the executive officials of four international unions and leaders of the labor movement. M. M. Garland, surveyor of the port at Pittsburgh, and Frank B. Smith, vice president of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers, left for Philadelphia last evening to attend the conference. The unions to be represented are the Brotherhood of Painters, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, International Union of Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers and the International Elevator Constructors. Non-union men are doing the work belonging to these four organizations. At the meeting it is planned to appoint a committee to appear before the contractors and the state capitol commission. If the contractors cannot be induced to favor the unions, organizers will be put into the field and work against the re-election of the members of the commission and such of their friends as are candidates for political positions. As the contracts have all been awarded the union men have little chance of changing the conditions at the capitol.

George Riggs, son of Burgess William K. Riggs of East McKeesport, has returned from Porto Rico, bringing with him a native youth who is to prepare himself here for missionary work. Mr. Riggs was sent to Porto Rico to superintend the erection of a number of missionary stations by the Baptist Missionary society.

Another of the many large parties of foreigners who are making a visit to Pittsburgh one of the features of their trip to the St. Louis world's fair, were in the city yesterday. The party numbered 56 and came from Austria-Hungary, where they are prominent in business. Dr. Krebs, an Americanized Austrian, was in charge of the party. They visited the Carnegie and Westinghouse works yesterday.

Benjamin I. Davis, editor of the Amalgamated Association journal, returned last night from Massillon, where he delivered a Labor day address.

F. G. Wishing, traveling passenger agent of the 'Frisco line, left last night for Buffalo. Speaking of railroad transportation, he said: "The railroads are scarce of cars, particularly in the west. The roads are busy hauling the western crops, which makes it impossible to supply cars for other movements. When the crops have all been delivered the railroads will have sufficient rolling stock to meet all requirements."

J. O. Rowe, formerly clerk at the Duquesne, but recently manager of a hotel at Uniontown, returned yesterday from a pleasure trip to the Pacific coast. He says business is picking up in all cities where he visited.

Alexander Hamilton of London, England, after spending three months in various cities in the United States, left last night over the Pennsylvania for his home. He is an iron and steel broker and, speaking on this business, said: "It is cheaper to purchase steel bars in this country, pay tariff and freight, and reship the finished product to foreign countries than to make the material in England.

C. M. Travis, commercial agent of a California produce firm, left last night for New York. He says the fruit business is at its highest point, and from now on the shipments and consumption will decline.

W. E. Haskins, of Los Angeles, left for his home last night after spending a few days in Pittsburgh. "Los Angeles is rapidly becoming a manufacturing town," he said. "While we do not have such a large population as San Francisco, yet we enjoy other conditions more favorable. We have better atmosphere, have more level land near the city, labor organizations are barred out of the place, have plenty of shipping facilities, both land and water, and have minerals at hand."

BEEF STRIKE MAY END TODAY

Packers to Deliver Answer to Overture of Their Employes This Morning.

LATTER WILL THEN TAKE VOTE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Indications tonight are that the stock yards strike, began two months ago, may be called off within 24 hours. Through the medium of a middleman, negotiations were begun today in an effort to secure an understanding with the packers on which the striking unions can rely as a basis for abandoning the strike tomorrow afternoon.

It was admitted tonight by Secretary Tracey of the Allied Trades council of unions on strike that a message opening up such negotiations had been delivered today to representatives of the packing firms by W. E. Skinner, general agent of the Union Stock Yards Transit Company.

According to the plans tonight an answer is to be submitted tomorrow by the packers in time for it to be reported at a special meeting of the Allied trades council in the forenoon. Special meetings for all the local unions involved in the strike have been called for tomorrow.

If the packers give encouraging assurances to the strikers messengers will be sent at once to the gatherings of the local bodies. The unions, it is said, will then vote on discontinuing the strike and their referendum vote will be reported at once to the meeting of the Allied trades council.

DIRECTORS OF TRUST CO. ARE SUED FOR $1,360,000

Action Against New York Trust Company for Money Said to Have Been Lost Through Dresser.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—A suit has been brought in Saratoga county by Charles H. Kavanagh of Waterford, N. Y., against the directors of the Commonwealth Trust Company, formerly the Trust Company of the Republic, to compel them to pay into the company's treasury about $1,360,000. This is the amount which Kavanagh, as a stockholder of the company, says the company has lost in depreciation of its capital stock on account of the mismanagement of its affairs by D. Le Roy Dresser, who was president of the company when it was involved in the promotion of the United States Shipbuilding Company.

Among the directors named in the suit are George J. Gould, Perry Belmont, Herbert B. Satterlee, Thomas Crimmins, Ballard McCall, James H. Eckels, Elbridge Gerry Snow, Henry C. Rouse, George C. Boldt and Stuyvesant Fish.

Trying to Save a Leg.

As a result of burns received by matches and firecrackers exploding in his pocket on the Fourth of July an operation was performed on George Homer, a boy of Braddock township, yesterday, in the hope of saving his leg. If the leaders of the leg can be restored five square inches of skin will be grafted on the leg to cover the part burned.

BALLOTING IN VERMONT TODAY

Republican Party Leaders Expect Plurality of at Least 25,000.

LICENSE QUESTION FIGURES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, VT., Sept. 5.—Vermont's state election—the second of the presidential year—will be held tomorrow. State officers will be chosen and the Republicans, Democrats, Prohibitionists and Socialists all have tickets in the field. Charles J. Bell of Walden is the Republican nominee for governor, while Eli H. Porter of Wilmington is the nominee of the Democrats. The sole fight of the Democrats has been to reduce the Republican plurality of 31,000, given to Stickney for governor in 1900, to a figure which would indicate a significant gain in Democratic strength, and as pointing to a national Democratic victory. A Republican plurality under 25,000 will be regarded by the Democrats as a victory. The Republican leaders of the state expect at least 25,000 plurality and securing it, will regard the result as a strong indorsement of the Republican administration in the state for the past two years, and as an omen of Republican success in the national election. A smaller plurality is expected by the Republicans this year than was polled four years ago, when many gold Democrats voted for McKinley.

The political situation in Vermont was complicated two years ago by a split in the Republican party on the license question, and the same issue has figured in the present campaign. The license question will not be voted on tomorrow, but in the selection of local candidates the nominations have in several instances turned upon the candidate's position on the liquor traffic. In Chittenden, Rutland and Washington counties local option Republicans have nominated their own county tickets in opposition to the regular Republican nominees. The Republicans, however, claim that this will not effect the vote for governor.

A comparison, however, of the gubernatorial vote this year, with that cast two years ago, will be valueless as, because of the Republican split neither John C. McCullough, the present governor, who was the regular Republican nominee, nor Percival W. Clement, the high-license candidate, received a majority and Gov. McCullough was selected by the legislature.

RUSSIAN CREWS WILL BE HELD IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, Sept. 5.—The crews of the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi, which took refuge here after the naval battle off Port Arthur August 10, and which subsequently were dismantled, will remain in China until the close of the war. They will be divided and sent to Tientsin, Chefoo, Hankow, Shanghai and Foochow, the treaty ports where there are Russian consulates.

LEAGUE GAMES TODAY.

Cincinnati at Exposition park.
Boston at New York.
Chicago at St. Louis.

An even break was the best the Pirates could get out of the two Labor day games with the Cincinnati team. The visitors took the morning contest, which was a loosely played affair, 5 to 3, and the locals managed to win out in a pitchers' battle in the afternoon, 1 to 0. The morning game was witnessed by 3,775 people and the afternoon contest was attended by 9,170 lovers of the game.

The morning contest got a late start, owing to the delayed arrival of the team from Cincinnati. The Pirates hurried from the depot and went on the field without breakfast, and this no doubt had much to do with the sleepy exhibition put up by them. Added to this was the fact that the Reds took a liking to the curves served by Patsy Flaherty and bumped the ball to all parts of the field. It was not misplays on the field that was wrong with the Pirates, but a failure to take advantage of opportunities, and slow, sleepy work while on the bases. "Noodles" Hahn pitched the morning game for the Reds, and outside of the first inning, when he displayed a lot of wildness and speed in a run, pitched good ball.

The afternoon game was the one that was pleasing to the spectators, not alone because the Pirates scored the victory, but the clever display of pitching put up called for some sharp fielding, and while there was nothing sensational in the work of the players, yet the handling of the ball was so fast and clean-cut that it was enjoyable to look at. The real feature of the afternoon contest was the muff of a fly ball by that usually reliable player, Ritchey. This happened in the third inning and was so unlooked for that the spectators as well as the Pirates could no nothing but laugh, and Ritchey was forced to join in the merriment.

There was one out at the time of Ritchey's error, and Ewing, who was the batter, sent up a little fly into short right field, one of the kind that the second baseman gathers in without trouble. This one was not the least difficult and Ritchey got fairly under the ball and got it in both hands, only to let it drop out. It was the first time within the memory of the oldest baseball fan that the second baseman had made a blunder of this kind, and instead of being hooted for his mistake, some of the spectators actually cheered him.

The pitchers in the afternoon game were Lynch for the Pirates and Ewing for the Reds, and while both put up a splendid exhibition, yet the local man carried off the honors, as he allowed the fewest hits and his curves were harder to gauge than those of the visiting pitcher. It was one of the best displays of pitching of the season by Lynch, who had his curves working in fine shape, and they were as difficult a problem for the Reds' batters as were the Japs' movements to the Russians. Lynch also had splendid command of the ball, and only gave two bases on balls during the nine innings, which is rather unusual for him.

There was only one stage of the game where the Reds looked the least dangerous, and that was in the sixth, when Ewing started with a base hit and Kelley followed with a two-bagger. Here was a stage with a runner on third and second bases, and it was dollars to cents that the visitors would at least score a run, but they did not, and this was due to the pitching by Lynch and clever fielding by that same player, who managed to work himself out of a very ugly looking hole. Seymour, who followed Kelley, could not get the ball past the pitcher, and Ewing was out trying to score. Sebring, who would have given a week's salary for a hit at that stage of the game, popped up a weak foul fly which Phelps took good care of, and Odwell was a victim on strikes, thus ending a dangerous looking inning.

Ewing's pitching was so clever that in only one inning could the Pirates do anything with his delivery, and that was the fourth, where they managed to bunch two hits, and their only run was the result. Ritchey led off this inning with a two-base hit to left field, and he scored on Wagner's fine single to left. In the sixth Wagner secured the laugh on Sebring when he drove the ball to right for what would be an ordinary single, but Sebring fielded the ball slowly, and Hans turned the hit into a two-bagger by fast base running.

Among the afternoon crowd was a large delegation from Wheeling, headed by a brass band, which played some clever selections between innings. This crowd was out to root for Lewis Smith, who was a former member of the Wheeling team. In the field Smith showed looking a couple of fine catches, but he could do nothing at bat, though he did land on the ball hard each time he was up. Jimmy Sebring also put up a fine fielding game, having a neat double play in the eighth inning, but Lynch's curves were more than he could gauge. In the morning game Catcher Phelps of the Reds was put out of the game and off the field for questioning decisions of the umpire. The scores:

MILLVALE BEATS VERNERS.

Bad Play Prevents Shutout—The Locals Finds the Ball at Right Time.

The Verner team lost at Millvale yesterday because it could not hit young Sheitler, who allowed one hit, which was a infolfjudged liner in right field. He should have scored a shut-out, but for a bad play on his part in the eighth inning, when he threw to the plate with two men out. Maier pitched fairly well, but was unsteady. Score:

WAYNESBURG WINS SERIES FROM WASHINGTON TEAM

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Sept. 5.—Sheriff Koebert's Waynesburg team won the championship of the southwestern corner of the state by defeating the Washington Independents in two games. The first game was won by Waynesburg through superior hitting, coupled with errors on the part of Washington. Both pitchers were batted hard, but Phillips had the best of the argument. In the second inning Harvey Hollis pitched a magnificent game, his delivery proving an enigma. Washington hit Zellers hard, but not opportunely.

Waynesburg has won eight games to six for Washington. Score:

PITTSBURGHERS READY TO TAKE PART IN BIG TOURNEY

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 5.—This morning brought practically all of the remaining golfers who are to start at 9 o'clock tomorrow in the national amateur championship. By count about 130 men are out practicing. The temperature today is nearly 30 degrees lower than it was on Saturday, the sudden change rather upsetting some of the visitors.

Eben M. Byers of Pittsburgh, runner-up in the last two national amateur golf championships, has arrived at the Baltusrol links after his long trip abroad. He brought positive word that no Englishmen would participate in the event beginning tomorrow. Up to a short time ago the Britishers had intended taking a hand, but as several of their medal competitions are to be held this month they finally changed their minds.

Among the recent arrivals were Oliver, Frew and Marshall of Pittsburgh and Jay S. Jones, J. M. Rhett and W. B. Rhett of the Crescent club, Brooklyn; Leighton Calkins of Plainfield; Fred O'Connell of Boston; Greenville Kane of Tuxedo; Enos Wilder, Jr., of Morris county; Arthur and Haymond Havemyer of Sea Bright and E. B. Case of Oil City.

ENNIS WANTS BIG BETTING ODDS

Says He Is Willing to Wager $2,000 Against $10,000 That Parker Will Win.

KEENAN TOO BUSY TO HELP

John F. Ennis is willing to bet on the election of Parker if he can secure odds of 5 to 1. He announced yesterday that he is ready to put up $2,000 against $10,000 that the national Democratic ticket will win.

Ennis claims to be full of Democratic confidence, but explains the request for such large odds by saying that a man who is willing to risk $2,000 is entitled to them. He claims that he has not been in any of the alleged doubtful states and has no personal knowledge of the conditions existing therein.

The Pittsburgher bases his claims for success on two things: He says that labor troubles in some parts of the country and the fact that the Democracy has a candidate who is unknown will bring victory to his party. He admits that the farmers are contented and will, to a large extent, vote the Republican ticket.

Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin are turned into the Democratic column by Ennis. He also makes the prediction that Ohio is likely to be taken away from the Republicans. All of this was said with a straight face, but without any indication of a disposition to lower the betting odds.

While Ennis is willing to give Pennsylvania to the Republicans, he is determined to reduce the majority. McKinley had about 300,000, and Ennis wants to bet that Roosevelt will not have 195,000. The plurality in this county is to be kept below 40,000, according to Ennis.

He makes the prediction that while Westmoreland county gave McKinley a majority of 4,500, Roosevelt's lead will be total of that figure.

The Westmoreland majority was secured with almost a united Democracy working for Bryan. This fall but a faction of the party will be found working for Parker. Yesterday it developed that Col. John B. Keenan has resigned the chairmanship of the third division committee. He has sent a formal notice to Secretary State Chairman Hall and has written W. J. Brennen, requesting him to take charge of the work, as he will not have time to devote to the campaign this fall. Brennen has accepted. The counties in the third division are Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Lafayette, Greene, Indiana, Jefferson, Washington and Westmoreland. Division chairmen are members of the state executive committee.

The action of Keenan means that he intends to allow Judge Doty and his followers to run the campaign in Westmoreland. The Keenan faction will keep out of the fight. The state organization turned against Keenan in the contest growing out of the election of national delegates. For years he had been recognized as the leader of the Democracy in Westmoreland. The friends of the captain are of the opinion that the state leaders will find need for him before he hunts their assistance.

After Ennis' bets of the Westmoreland tangle he will probably ask for even better odds.

BUYER IS ALSO GUILTY IN BLUE LAW VIOLATION

Philadelphia Court Has Ruled So Against Detective Who Bought a Cigar on Sunday.

Tradesmen, smarting under the application of the Sunday or "blue" law, have unearthed a decision by Judge Martin of Philadelphia, carried up on an appeal from a ruling of a Philadelphia magistrate, that the buyer is equally guilty and fully as liable to fine as the dealer is in selling goods in violation of the law.

Judge Martin wrote a long opinion on the case which involved a decision against a detective charged with purchasing a cigar, and concluded the opinion as follows:

"Accepting in its broadest sense the definition of works of necessity, as used in connection with Sunday legislation, it is not possible to conceive of a necessity which compels a person to become a party to an offense which is susceptible of proof upon view. That it may be more convenient for an informer to buy than to wait for a precarious customer, cannot make the work one of necessity.

Director Moore of the department of public safety returned yesterday from a three weeks' vacation and vigorously denounced the recent Sunday observance crusade. The director held that trafficking in soda water, cigars and candies, was a harmless and essential traffic on Sunday and that persecution of such dealers would, of necessity, arouse the anger of the people.

A GREAT BOOK.

A New Edition That Will Work Like a Human Being, Making Money for People Everywhere.

The Central District & Printing Telegraph Company is about to issue the most valuable and elaborate directory it has yet compiled. As the time for receiving copy closes October 1, the contract department of the company urges all non-users who contemplate having either a business or residence telephone installed to make application before that date that their names may appear in the coming much larger edition.

The insertion of one's name in a book that is consulted so often is, in many instances, alone worth the price of a telephone for one year, a truth to which very many business men have testified.

The Bell Telephone Directory, in fact, has become a busin ss and social directory, containing at the present time upwards of 35,000 names, about 35,000 of which are in the Pittsburgh district. Therefore it will be easily understood how a book of such magnitude is of increasing interest and value, and how desirable it is both from a business and social standpoint, to have one's name appear in it.

With a Bell telephone in one's residence or place of business one is in position to reach anywhere and everywhere at a moment's notice.

The management of the C. D. & P. Tel. Company points out that it is to the advantage of new subscribers to send their names in advance, and will be pleased to explain this advantage to those who call up 8000 Grant and ask for Contract Department.

MURDER, THEN SUICIDE.

Octogenarian Killed His Wife and Then Ended His Own Life.

CLARION, PA., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—George Kaber, a wealthy farmer living near Shippensville, killed his wife and himself this morning. Kaber was 85 years old, his wife a year older.

After shooting his wife, as she lay in bed asleep, Kaber walked to the home of his son, on an adjoining farm, and informed the young man that the mother was dangerously ill. The son at once started for the home of his parents, leaving his father behind. When he arrived at his father's home he found his mother lying in bed, dead. Going to neighbors to summon help he came upon the body of his father near a spring, which was his favorite resting place. It is thought the act was committed while the father was suffering from temporary insanity.

JUVENILE COURT LAW DANGEROUS

Really a Protection to Youthful Criminals, as Philadelphia Case Illustrates.

ALARMING GROWTH OF CRIME

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 5.

Six boys, charged with crimes ranging from petty larceny to pocket picking, arrested today, indicates the alarming increase of juvenile criminality in this city. An instance in which the juvenile court bill, passed by the last legislature, protected a criminal, is cited.

Abraham Sickelbaum, who the police assert to be one of the shrewdest pickpockets in the country, though but 14 years of age, was caught with a woman's purse in a department store. Under the law the detective could not summon a patrol wagon nor could he temporarily lock his youthful prisoner up in the police station. The offices of five magistrates were closed. After a weary tramp about the streets with his prisoner, the detective was compelled to return to the store. The boy was placed in the custody of Detective Moylan, who took him to the house of detention at the Bleckley almshouse. Here it was learned that little Abraham could not be admitted unless he was regularly committed by a magistrate.

"I can't find a magistrate," said Moylan, "and I can't allow this boy to escape, he is charged with picking pockets."

"Don't make any difference," was the reply of the official in charge. "If you had brought this boy in a patrol wagon I might have admitted him."

"But it's against the law to place a minor in a patrol wagon," said the detective.

Mrs. Ramsey, chief probation officer, was next appealed to. She was asked to care for the boy until morning. "I have 35 boys here now," she explained, "and I have no room for this child. Even if I did I could not take him without a commitment."

Again Sickelbaum was marched back to the store. Being in a quandary as to what to do, the boy was finally allowed to go free. CHESTER D. POTTER.

CORTELYOU AT OYSTER BAY.

Man Who Tries to Reach the President's House Locked Up by Secret Service Men.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—There is a conference going on tonight at Sagamore Hill between President Roosevelt and Chairman Cortelyon of the national Republican committee which will bring out the president's wishes with respect to many points of policy in the campaign. These points are of importance from the standpoint of Republican campaigners. Chairman Cortelyou came to Oyster Bay tonight, and will be the guest of the president at Sagamore Hill until tomorrow at 11 o'clock, when he will go back to New York.

Late this afternoon a suspicious person, who was trying to work his way through the secret srvice men to the president's house, was arrested and locked up. He could give no creditable account of himself, and was held as a suspicious character.

YOUTHS MADE ORANGEMEN.

New Lodge of Irish Young Americans Was Instituted in Allegheny.

The Orangemen of Pittsburgh and Allegheny last night founded a lodge of the junior branch of the order, the exercises being held in Ball's hall, West Diamond street, Allegheny. Thomas Newell, master of Loyal Orange lodge No. 75, represented the supreme grand master in instituting the boys' lodge. He was assisted by W. J. Buchanan, master of lodge No. 130.

The new lodge will be known as the Rising Sons of William, Bible and School Defenders, Orange Young Americans. The officers are Thomas Newell, Jr., captain; Robert Sloan, Jr., lieutenant; William Spence, sergeant; John M. Metter, corporal; James Spence, chaplain, and Frank and William Sloan, guards. The boys range from 10 to 18 years.

Bridegroom Kills Himself.

HUNTINGDON, PA., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Earnie Handley, aged 25 years, who married less than a week ago Miss Margaret Lemley, walked into a leading buffet here this afternon and ordered a glass of wine. After drinking he pulled a revolver from his pocket, and saying "Goodby" to the bartender, fired a bullet through his heart. Handley had been criticised by his parents, who are prominent, for his marriage, and it is thought that this led to his suicide.

Blue Laws Become Useful.

William Kambois, an Italian fruit vender, who conducts a small stand on Butler street extension, was arrested by the police yesterday, charged with selling cigars on Sunday. The arrest was not made in pursuance of the present blue law crusade, but because he had been ordered repeatedly to remove his stand, which obstructs a thoroughfare.

Finance Committee Meets.

At a meeting of the finance committee of Allegheny councils last night the ordinances providing for the exoneration of the Allegheny General hospital and the Home of the Friendless from the payment of taxes, were referred to the city solicitor for his opinion. A number of building permits were authorized.

Loudon Campbell Knocked Out.

CHARLEROI, PA., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Loudon Campbell, the 130-pound boxer, stood up for just part of the first round before Sully Sroup tonight. Campbell was knocked out before the warring had fairly begun. In a preliminary Kid Tyler and Harry Brown boxed four rounds to a draw.

Sailor Got Lost.

A. W. Ford, a seaman of the United States torpedo destroyer Hull, was given lodging last night in Allegheny Central station. The man said he had been given shore leave and became intoxicated. He came to his senses last night in Allegheny, and wishes to return to the naval station at Brooklyn.

MEMORIAL HALL WAS APPROVED

Constable James E. Glenn Surprised the Court by Making Over 30 Returns.

WARD GUARDIANS SENT BACK

The September grand jury convened yesterday and approved petitions for the erection of a hall as a memorial to the soldiers and sailors of Allegheny county and for the condemnation of the Smith property in Old avenue, where the addition to the jail is to be erected. This is the second grand jury to approve the petition for the erection of the memorial hall, and, if the court approves, the county commissioners can begin work as soon as the plans and site are selected. Judge Macfarlane, after approving a former petition that had been passed upon by two grand juries, withdrew his approval and refused to again append his signature. The present petition will come before Judges Evans and McClung and their approval is expected at any time.

The September term of quarter sessions court opened yesterday, but no jury trials were held. The grand jury met, 17 answering to their names. A. H. King was made foreman. The jurors were advised by the court to keep secret all matters which come before them. They were also told to make their returns without malice or ill-will, regardless of fear or favor. Particular stress was laid upon the importance of reporting to the court any outside communications or attempts to influence the findings of the jury.

The quarterly returns of the constables of the county were made, but very little out of the ordinary was developed. Some constables were asked about things which had been told to the district attorney and the court through letters. About 25 letters are in the hands of the court from persons protesting against different evils. Some were not signed and were disregarded. Those with signatures, however, received attention.

The returns of the Pittsburgh constables were little out of the ordinary, excepting that James E. Glenn of the Twentieth ward. Glenn's return sheet was well filled, there being on it 30 charges against 10 persons. The alleged proprietors at 1010 Wylie avenue, John McKee and Harry Harris, will probably have to answer to the court on charges of keeping a gambling house. Other similar charges were made against Morris Price, Jacob Shenkin, Jacob Barrett and E. Geller, said to run a gambling house at 159 Elm street, and Ellsworth Massey, J. Earley, A. Schrinchouse and J. Henderson, the alleged proprietors of 114 Elm street, where it is said a gambling house is also conducted. When the return was handed to Assistant District Attorney William D. Grimes he remarked about it and had the court pay particular attention to the large number of violations of the law.

Constable T. A. Joyce of the First ward was sent back with his return to look into the matter pertaining to the Fleming club 121 Fourth avenue, and the Mark Twain club at 248 Third avenue. Joyce said he had never heard of the Fleming club and that the Mark Twain club had been out of existence for 30 years. The only other Pittsburgh constables experiencing trouble were W. J. Morris of the Second ward and the constable of the Eighth ward, the latter being sent back to look after an alleged gambling house at 68 Fulton street.

The constable of the Fourth ward, Allegheny, faced a lot of questions he could not answer. When asked about the Hamilton and Minerva clubs, he said he had never heard of them. He did not know that beer was sold at 124 Anderson street or that beer was delivered at the Columbia club. Other places were also mentioned to him where liquor is alleged to be sold.

The McKeesport constables went through without having any questions asked them.

The McKees Rocks constable reported no violations of the law, which greatly surprised the court. The Brackenridge borough constable reported a drug store, run before a justice of the peace. He was told to include her. The Braddock constable was sent back to look after a poolroom in Braddock avenue, where there is betting done on ball games. The constable of Sharpsburg was sent back to look after an alleged speakeasy, and the Millvale officer to look after a club.

The constable of Baldwin township was sent back to look after a camp, where one can get all the beer wanted for a dollar. The Leet township constable reported some Hungarian boarding-house keepers who supplied beer to their boarders on checks and was ordered to return them.

Physician Disappears from Home.

The police were asked last night to locate Dr. W. G. Knittle of 1935 Forbes street, who has been missing since last Friday. The physician left his home without saying where he was going and has not been seen or heard of since. Dr. Knittle came to this city from Chicago about six months ago. His wife and children are in Tacoma, Wash.

CONTRACT LET FOR TENEMENT HOUSE

Model Structure Will Be Erected Corner Franklin and Logan Streets.

REALTY AND BUILDING NEWS

The contract for the model tenement house of Pittsburgh has been awarded by the architect, T. E. Billquist, to Golden & Crick. The building will be erected by the Tenement Improvement Company, organized several months ago to secure better tenement quarters in the crowded sections of the city. It will stand on a lot 48x107 feet, at the southeast corner of Franklin and Logan streets, and will be five stories high. The building will be strictly fireproof in its construction, a feature not found in the big majority of tenement structures in this city, and will be plainly but substantially built. Three store rooms will occupy the entire first floor. On the upper floors will be 20 flats of two, three and four rooms each, which will be provided with a bath and gas, heat and light. The rental on these flats has not been fixed, but will be much lower than that charged for many poorer quarters in similar localities. The excavations for the building are now completed and the work of putting in the foundations is in progress. The estimated cost of the building is put at $25,000. Already the company has received many applications for flats in the building, most of the home hunters being laboring men of the better class who wish to live near the heart of the city and at the same time get a comfortable and sanitary home for their families at reasonable cost.

News of Building World.

A Casino amusement hall, similar to the one built last year in Wilkinsburg, will be erected in Homestead from plans by Architects Millican & Miller. The building will be designed for bowling, billiards and similar amusements.

A $50,000 building to be used for store and apartment purposes, will be erected by James Jones, of the Pittsburgh-Buffalo Company, at Second avenue and Tecumseh street, Hazelwood.

The Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company is having plans prepared for a six-story brick warehouse in Forbis avenue, Allegheny. Architect A. K. Miller has plans for a three-story brick warehouse for the Somerset Distilling Company at Irwin, Pa.

Bids are being taken by Architect H. J. Lohman on a three-story brick addition to the building of the Hartman Hardware Company in Fifth avenue, McKeesport.

W. Grubbe, president of the Swissvale Lumber Company, is having plans prepared for a three-story frame tenement in that place.

The Robert McClilloway estate is taking bids on eight brick houses to be built in Bedford avenue, near Morgan street, at a cost of $2,500 each.

W. F. Dulaney & Co. will build a five-story brick warehouse at Blackberry and Thorn alleys, McKeesport, from plans by Architect H. J. Lohman.

May Move the Bridge.

President J. D. Callery, of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, has detailed two engineers to ascertain the cost of moving the bridge over the Monongahela river at Highland station, owned by Capt. Samuel S. Brown, down the river about 300 yards. If found practical to move the bridge it will be raised 75 feet to meet the grade of the new street Capt. Brown is having cut through his property on the bluff overhanging the river. The proposed change was suggested by Dr. John Purman, of Homestead, and if carried out would remove the perilous grade on Brown's hill and two grade crossings in Homestead.

Through the office of Samuel W. Black & Co., Charles Donnelly has leased the six-story warehouse at 508-510 Strawberry alley for a term of years, the lessees being Janeway, Carpender, wall paper manufacturers of New Brunswick, N. J. They will take possession at once and will open up one of the largest wholesale wall paper houses in the city under the management of John S. Roberts, who was formerly in the paper business in Penn avenue. Janeway & Carpender have branch houses in other large cities, but have never established themselves in Pittsburgh.

Fifth avenue: L. A. Clarke & Co. sold for James G. Corcoran, No. 2601 Fifth avenue, a 10-room frame house on a lot 85x110 feet, for $12,500. The property adjoins the new Eye and Ear hospital and was bought for an investment.

Etna: Seidel Brothers sold for George H. Cheesman, of Denver, Col., to W. J. McNeil, 15 lots, 20x85 feet each, on the south side of Cheesman avenue, Etna, for $4,200. FAMOUS JUSTICE DISPENSERS HAVE NEED TO LOOK AFTER THEIR LAURELS

"You will spend one hour and a half in a cell, and perhaps you will be good for the balance of the day!"

This was the sentence imposed on G. Brunett of 1006 Gibbon street yesterday by Vitchestain, the Cadi, on a charge of disorderly conduct. Burnett had been fighting with Frank Ashbridge at Diamond alley and Wood street yesterday afternoon. Both men are painters and members of local Union No. 6.

Though friends, they became engaged in an argument, Burnett called Ashbridge a hard name and the latter struck him. Policeman Jennings placed both under arrest. Vitchestain said it would be a shame to impose a fine of both, as it was Labor day, their one day in the year, and looking at the prisoners he said:

"Ashbridge you are discharged; Burnett, you seem to have been the cause of the trouble and the sentence is you are to spend one hour and a half in the cell, and perhaps you will be good the balance of the day."

Burnett was discharged after the required time.

GOOD BILLS AT THE VARIOUS PLAYHOUSES

Avenue—"Tess of the D'Urbervilles."

"The best stock company Harry Davis ever managed" was the comment heard yesterday as the patrons of the reinaugural of the Avenue theater as a stock company house filed out of the lobby. It was praise from persons who in the enthusiasm of a stock company first night were likely to be led to exaggeration but, on the other hand, they were well calculated to be fairly good judges of the performance they had seen because the majority had seen the debut of new actors in the Avenue since the days of Howard Kyle and Victory Bateman, and had comparisons by which to gauge a high standard of excellence. It would be unjust to the members of the present stock company, as well as to those stars who have graduated from the ranks of former aggregations, to declare unqualifiedly that William Courtenay and Miss Jane Kennark head the best company that the Avenue has ever had, because a stock company's qualities must be judged from more than one performance and certainly from more than one play.

JANE KENNARK,
Leading Lady of Stock Company.

In the present instance critical judgment of the work of the actors and actresses who entertained two big crowds yesterday will not be reached in the comparison of their efforts to former Pittsburgh stock companies so much as the measuring of their talents beside those of Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske and her company in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles." Miss Kennark has departed in some measure from Mrs. Fiske's style. Miss Kennark has emotional qualities which surpass those of any leading woman Manager Davis has ever engaged, but she seems not to attempt the almost pantomimic scenes by which Mrs. Fiske swayed her audiences. Miss Kennark has a magnetic presence and has been thoroughly emancipated from the mannerisms which could easily intrude themselves in reading lines so full of intense emotion as those uttered by Tess when she takes repeated sips from her cup of sorrow. She makes the play a tragedy such as Hardy had intended it to be. In the hands of a less capable company it would be the most somber sort of melodrama.

William Courtenay this week does not play the leading male part, but, in the character of Alec D'Urberville, he has a role that is particularly fitted for his unctious interpretation of the genteel scoundrel. Charles Wyngate acts the part of Angel Clare which was created in the original American production by John Craig. Mr. Courtenay's role was first essayed by Frederic De Belleville. Frederick Paulding had a mere bit in the part of Jonathan Kail, the dairy hand, and made that obscure character stand out as one of the strongest portrayals in the play. William McVay and Miss Alice Gale, old favorites among the former patrons of the Grand have equally congenial roles. Miss Margaret Dills had an excellent part in Marion and was enthusiastically received. Miss Emma Dunn, the clever little ingenue of a former season, made a decided hit.

The action of the play at both performances was sadly interrupted by over-enthused friends in the orchestra who insisted on a speech from each member of the company as he appeared on the stage. The speeches brought cordial words from the actors but was embarrassing to no small degree and made some scenes lose their force almost to the point of being grotesque. Fortunately these interruptions occurred in the first acts where the course of the story was not irreparably lost. The stage appointments were adequate in all details, and especially elaborate in the view of the ancient ruins of Stonehenge. On account of the length of the performance, the curtain will rise at 2 and 8 o'clock p. m. hereafter.

Nixon—"Vivian's Papas."

Clad in its summer garb, making the usually red interior of the Nixon theater look light and cool, Pittsburgh's youngest playhouse opened its second season last night. Although the occasion was a holiday, it was evident that the usual habitues of a first-class theater were not in a visiting mood, for rows and rows of chairs were but sparsely filled. This would seem to show that outside of a certain class the theater-goers here do not keep in touch with things theatrical before they reach Pittsburgh.

The star of the evening was Blanche Ring, who has made several individual hits, and the play was a farce by Leo Dietrichstein called "Vivian's Papas." It showed the master mind of the actor seeking to put comic situations on the stage rather than that of the dramatist endeavoring to portray life. It was clever and smacked of Hoyt, less most of the vaudeville in Hoyt's comedies, and, to those who kept up with current slang, are worldly wise and especially "New Yorky" it was screamingly funny. It was full of actor's slang, of "little old New York" and was evidently intended for consumption in that metropolitan summer and winter resort.

It told the story of a divorced chorus girl who was trying to marry a millionaire, but finally goes back to her first love, her divorced husband. It was as clean-cut of its kind as any lot of farce comedies ever tried and was merely intended for amusement. Blanche Ring was the gay divorcee and chorus girl and the chorus end was used to bring in four songs which were each redemanded half a dozen times. She first sang of how the different girls walk, the athletic, the theatrical and the Bowery one. So daintily was this accomplished that she was encored and gave "The Belle of Avenue A" with such acting as only French singers show as a rule. Then, as a la a Chamonette, Marie Lloyd of England in a typical serio-comic pathetic ballad and finally herself, in her "Bedella" hit. In the last act she sang a tuneful, but not very Irish, song called "Kate Kearney."

Blanche Ring is the star according to the bills, but the company was even with her throughout and showed Harry Conor as a real comedian, with the same swift movements and quick talk that made him in "A Stranger in New York." It almost seemed as if the author had written the part to fit Conor, and no higher compliment could be given actor and playwright. Emma Janvier put a new type on the stage—a sort of farcical "Lydia Languish," and she was intensely funny. Lillie Hall as a colored maid was the impersonification of a jolly and rotund negress. Hall McAllister and Thomas Burns were also fitted like gloves with their parts. These two and Conor had a rapid-fire talk in the last act that was the finest sort of farce and showed the ablest of stage management.

There was not a dragging movement in the show until the last 15 minutes, when everything became obvious to the audience and the interest waned. It is as clever a company as Pittsburgh has seen in farce, not excepting the original company in "My Friend from India," and it stamps Dietrichstein as the possible American Pinero, who knows the stage from the inside and how to use technicalities.

Duquesne—"Foxy Grandpa."

The Duquesne theater yesterday, under the management of R. M. Gulick and F. J. McNulty, made a successful bid for the title of "Home of Comedy." The patronage indicated that the change in the character of attractions at the Penn avenue playhouse was approved by a large class of theatergoers. The crowds, too, showed an improvement over those of last year. An old theater in a new dress, and an old show in new guise would hardly have been considered a team to accomplish much but, with a new curtain, new carpets and new frescoes, the interior of the house looked bright and cosy, while with new costumes and as pretty a chorus as ever appeared in a popular-priced theater, "Foxy Grandpa" was youth reincarnated. There was a spirit of friskiness about the performance that shows how much "Foxy Grandpa" has been rejuvenized. The music is its best feature and much of the credit for this is due to the orchestra which W. A. Staley has enlisted. Joseph Hart and Carrie DeMar are featured for the best of the laugh-making and most of the music, but their work, which is familiar from former visits, in nowise discounts the very clever work of the chorus. Fleurette DeMar, Louise Randolph and Gussie Chase lead in the best of the songs which escape Carrie DeMar. It is an unpremediated beauty show because the stereotyped show girl is absent. Georgie Mack and Bobby Harrington make good in the part of the mischievious boys who try in vain to play practical jokes on "Foxy."

Grand—Refined Vaudeville.

If full boxes and standing room at a premium are any indications of a popular playhouse, then it must be admitted that Manager Harry Davis made a decided hit when he turned the Grand opera house into a vaudeville house, and that his subsequent selections of amusements have been well calculated to please the most fastidious theatergoer. The Grand has seldom been the gathering place of a larger or more appreciative crowd than was seen there last night. The list of attractions was unusually strong throughout, and among them were a number that deserved special mention. Chief of these was Jewell's automatic electric manikin theater, which was in every way a wonder to most of the persons who witnessed the kaleidoscope of beautiful electrical effects and the magic antics of the tiny performers. This feature of the entertainment alone is well worth a visit to the Grand this week. To Pittsburghers an attraction no less interesting was the one-act comedy of stage life called "The Chorus Lady," written by James Forbes, a former Pittsburgh newspaper man. The work of Rose Stahl, a former star in "Janice Meredith," was much to elicit the applause hearty applause. Elsie Janis in her Cissy Loftus impersonations won a large share of the applause of the evening. In the realm of comedy, Quigley brothers made a strong hit in their conversational sparring, and Hacker and Lester, as acrobatic cyclists, left no room for gloom among the spectators. With the aid of mystic wires, Blocksom and Burns succeeded in puzzling the uninitiated in the arts of stagecraft, while the Four Mortons with their vocal and dancing specialties were great favorites.

Empire—"Out of the Fold."

A pretty rural drama, "Out of the Fold," is at the Empire this week. Its first performance last evening was attended by a large audience that seemed pleased. The play ranks well and the characters could not be improved upon. The drama is based on the misfortunes of Helene Grey, a stranger, played by Norma Hyatt. This woman the entire neighborhood shuns because of knowledge of her past and the exaggerations of gossips. Joseph Hart as Nolan Crane, a young schoolmaster, defends the girl, falls in love with her and marries her after encountering obstacles in the way of protests from friends.

Tom O'Neil as a sheepherder is a stanch friend of the couple and helps them to carry out their plans. O'Neil got a good share of the applause, which was generous and fairly well distributed. John Brinsley played the part of Daddy Pinchback, a local editor, who is famous for his stingy way of living, yet feared for his power to put names in print. Annie Inman executes her role well as Aunt Jane Larkins, who owns the Oak farm. Jessie Dodd is Mrs. Conn, a typical village gossip.

Warren Ashley was in favor as Judge Harlan, an honorable citizen; he assists the play by acting the part well. The other characters, the kind that usually exists singly in the rural communities, Dorothy Grey as Marie Lathrop, "who has been to the city," is a haughty and unsympathetic girl who, among others, condemns the lonely girl. Don MacMillan as Toby Tompkins, made everybody laugh. The stage settings were first-class, those in the first and second acts particularly so. The play opens with a church scene, where the schoolmaster preaches as a substitute. It is here that he discovers the unfortunate girl with whom he afterward falls in love. He made his hit while proclaiming from the church door that the place is one for sinners rather than hypocrites.

Bijou—"The Child Slaves of New York."

"The Child Slaves of New York" possesses all the elements necessary for a good emotional melodrama, or perhaps it would be more to the point to say a successful melodrama. A really good melodrama seemingly would receive a chilly reception from a holiday audience at the Bijou if it did not have hair-raising situations and exciting climaxes. "The Child Slaves of New York," which is there this week, however, could hardly fail to meet with the approval of the modern patron of the lurid show. It has children in white, a big snow scene and innumerable realistic views about the "after dark" portion of New York. With a prologue which opens in the shadow of Mt. St. Elias the action shifts to the tenement district in Gotham, and thence all over town, while villainy pursues the hero and vengeance finally overtakes the wicked. The piece has been seen here before and its story is familiar. The company is up to the average. Will H. Vedder, the well-known character actor, does some really meritorious work. The comedy lines are well cared for, and there are many laughs between strenuous moments of tears and terror.

Academy—"The Kentucky Belles."

Somebody passed around the word in the Academy last night that every girl in the big chorus of the "Kentucky Belles" was a blue-grass maiden and it made a hit. The members of the chorus this week possess the average charms of the average burlesque chorus, but the spell that they had come from Kentucky made them appear like real enchantresses. Now it happens that there are few, very few, Kentucky women in the show, but all the majority of them have seen some of the Bourbon state is when they have played their regular semi-annual round in the Louisville variety theater. The performance itself makes little reference to the land of the colonels and the seductive mint julep, but withal the halo of romance of "Ole Kaintuck" in some way has been thrown around the company and an ordinary jumble of singing, dancing and vaudeville acts was received with demonstrations of approval that indicate the "Kentucky Belles" have won unusual popularity in Pittsburgh. A burlesque, "Murphy's Masquerade," is split up into several scenes in order to allow the specialty people an opportunity, and an abundance of fun is provided. The leading vaudeville performers are Forresto and Albertino, acrobats; Reid and Gilbert, travesty performers; the Reliance quartet, Terry and Elmer, and Aleene and Hamilton. There is plenty of spice in the show and it moves along with spirit.

Thomas E. Shea Makes a Hit.

LEWISTON, ME., Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Thomas E. Shea opened his season tonight as a Nixon-Zimmerman star in the legitimate drama. Mr. Shea appeared to his best advantage and is to be congratulated upon his excellent supporting company, which is evenly balanced and painstaking.

THEY WISH HIM SUCCESS.

Harry Davis Got Many Cordial Telegrams from Former Well Known Stock Company Players.

Many telegrams of congratulation were received by Manager Harry Davis yesterday from former members of both the Avenue and Grand opera house stock companies, expressing good wishes for the advent of the new company in the original home of stock in this city. Hugh Ward cabled his felicitations from London, while Henrietta Crosman sent a wire from New York. Marion Ballou, who is summering at West Hardwich, Mass., and George Pauncefote, who is in Bostor, both sent lengthy telegrams. Sarah Truax, William Beach and Thomas Meighan, all of whom, by a strange coincidence, are members of the all-star "Two Orphans" company this season, each sent a message to Mr. Davis and friends in the company.

Clyde Fitch, whose plays are very popular with the local stock, took occasion to wish the new company success while Alice Kauser and Mrs. Beaumont Packard of New York, were among the hundred or more who congratulated the management.

Jessie Izett, Ernest Hastings, Brandon Tynan, Joseph Kilgour, Marion Barney, Minna Phillips, Beryl Hope, Grace Scott, Adelaide Thurston, Lisle Leigh, Alice Butler, Lizzie Hudson Collier, Marion Berg, Howard Kyle, William Haworth, Louise Rial, John Waldron, Mace Greenleaf and Ida Adair were among those who signed the numerous messages received. Eva Taylor wired from Milwaukee and Violet Rand from Chicago.

Charles Richman, leading man this season with Amelia Bingham, wired from Baltimore. Thomas Ross, who is starring in "Checkers," sent a message from New York and Janet Waldorf, leading lady with E. J. Morgan in "The Eternal City," wired from Boston. William Ingersoll wired from his farm at Gettysburg, Pa. James Wilson wired from his summer home at Fairport, N. Y. Manager Davis' private office rooms were filled with floral designs sent by friends in Pittsburgh.

Goodwin Play at Avenue.

No play of the extensive repertoire announced at the Avenue theater this season by the Harry Davis stock company will be more welcome than N. C. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott's former great success, "The Altar of Friendship," from the prolific pen of Mrs. Madeline Lucette Ryley, which will be at the Avenue next week. The lines are exceedingly clever and amusing, and the story full of heart interest. It is witty and epigrammatic in dialogue, sparkling in comedy, full of sentiment, and intensely strong in moments of emotional pathos. The scenes are laid in England and Mr. Courtenay as the hero, Richard Arbuthnot, a young English litterateur, has one of those sympathetic characters, a manly, honest-hearted fellow, sacrificing almost everything for the sake of friendship. Miss Kennark as the heroine, Sally Sartoris, is a vivacious American girl.

"Yankee Consul" Coming.

Raymond Hitchcock and a strong supporting company, including Flora Zabelle, Eva Davenport, Rose Botti, Joseph M. Ratcliff, Alfred Parr, William Danforth and J. E. Hazzard, with a large and well-trained chorus, in George Ade's "Yankee Consul" will be next week's attraction at the Nixon. This comic opera, under the direction of Henry W. Savage, has been received with much praise in the east. It has just closed a season of 18 weeks in the Broadwey theater in New York.

Fritzi Scheff's Opera a Success.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Fritzi Scheff reappeared here at the Illinois theater tonight in C. B. Dillingham's new operatic production, "The Two Roses." Her reception was enthusiastic and the verdict on the new opera was entirely favorable.

BIG AUDIENCES THRONGED CIRCUS PERFORMANCES

Forepaugh & Sells Brothers Show Was the Best of Its Kind Ever Seen In Pittsburgh.

Two immense audiences gasped, thrilled, laughed and cheered yesterday afternoon and evening when the performances of the Forepaugh-Sells Brothers' show were presented on the old stock yards in East Liberty. It was the best circus of its kind that had ever been seen in Pittsburgh. There were 14 elephants, from giant tuskers to cunning babies, a herd of 20 camels and 14 polar bears in the menagerie and parade, besides all the other zoo features from monkeys to the hippopotamus. There were all the usual circus acts and more than a dozen that were unusual.

Clowns were in myriads and seemed to be working in every corner of the arena at once, so that it was impossible to follow all their antics. They danced, sang, tumbled, rode horses and mules, ran a fake automobile and had performing dogs as funny as themselves. There were acrobatic acts, equestrian, aerial and cycling. Three rings and a stage were full of them at once, but these things are to be expected with a big circus. There were some things not to be expected.

In the opening pageant there was a historically correct representation of the cavalry of Uncle Sam in their quaint uniforms from the bewigged days of the war of the revolution to the simplicity of the Roosevelt Rough Rider. The Lecussons, seven people, drove in a park brake with four horses and in ordinary, everyday clothing threw somersaults from the brake to the backs of the galloping animals and back again into the vehicle. Then, for fun, they all mounted standing on one running horse.

One old-time display, revived, was the tournament of leapers. They threw single, double, twisting and writhing somersaults over the backs of elephants, and the clowns had strange mishaps that caused roars of laughter. When Diavolo leaped a loop that was about 18 feet in diameter there was a gasp from the audience that was only excelled when Prodigious Porthos made a wild leap on a bicycle over a gap of 50 feet that was filled with 14 elephants, over whose backs he flew in air.

The parade in the early morning was witnessed by thousands along the eight miles traveled by the performers and animals before the shows began.

Asthma & Hay Fever Cured.

The truly marvelous cures of Asthma which are being effected by Dr. Schiffmann's Asthma Cure certainly call for notice.

Rev. G. L. Taylor, of Washburn, Ill., says: "Some 7 years ago my wife used several packages of your Asthma Cure which resulted in a permanent cure."

A Hay Fever sufferer writes: "I have been a sufferer from Hay Fever for over 20 years, and it seemed harder every year. The first night I used your Asthma Cure I was greatly relieved. It cured my cough after using a few times. I shall recommend it to all sufferers of gest Tonnage in July for Any Month — Atlantic Seaboard Grain Receipts Greater.

NCREASE ON TRUNK LINES

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Freight traffic on the Great Lakes is growing to enormous proportions, as shown by returns received by the Department of commerce and labor. In July a total freight of 8,507,182 tons was received at the ports of the Great Lakes, the largest tonnage reported for any month in the history of lake freight receipts. There was an advance on last year's figures, when 7,876,410 tons were reported.

Owing to the strike the receipts for the first seven months of 1904 amounted to but 15,161,304 tons, against 26,951,015 tons in 1903. Iron ores and minerals formed the greatest part of the traffic and coal was next in importance. The total freight passing the Sault Ste. Maris canals thus far this year is far behind that of last year, owing to the strike in the earlier months of the year. Thus far this year it has been 9,198,235 tons, against 17,224,462 tons a year ago.

Grain receipts at the Atlantic seaboard in July were larger than those of either May or June, amounting to 12,813,733 bushels. In July, 1903, the corresponding total was 18,492,370 bushels. Among the five ports of New York, Portland, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, Boston alone shows an increase in the receipts for July this year over July, 1903. For seven months, however, none of the ports shows a record for this year equal to that of the preceding year, the totals being 94,082,609 bushels to July 31, 1904, against 151,513,374 bushels in 1903. Louisville grain receipts this year are larger than those of last, while shipments of grain from Galveston and New Orleans are far below those of last year.

At 12 primary grain markets in the interior 20,544,305 bushels of grain arrived in July, against 42,655,464 bushels in July, 1903, being a decrease of 27.7 per cent. For the first seven months of the year the decrease is 9 per cent. Trunk line movements of flour, grain and provisions for 30 weeks, ending with July 30, have all been larger in volume than the corresponding movements in 1902 and 1903.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Money was plentiful in the market today and the demand was somewhat increased by repayments to the Bank of England. Discounts were weak in view of arrivals of gold. On the stock exchange the tone was fairly cheerful. Trading was quiet. Consols and home rails were firm. Americans opened steady and almost stagnant. Grand Trunk was strong on the good traffic returns. Foreigners were irregular on Paris advices, and were affected by the latest war news. Japanese improved. Imperial Japanese government 6s above were quoted at 96¾. Consols for money, 88 5-16. Consols for account, 88⅝. Money 1¾@1½ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2⅝@2 11-16 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for three months' bills is 2 11-16@2¾ per cent. The amount of bullion taken into the Bank of England balance today was £544,000.

PARIS, Sept. 5.—General firmness prevailed on the bourse today. Rentes and international issues had an upward tendency. The appointment of Gen. Kuropatkin to retrieve without disaster restored confidence. Russian Imperial 4s were quoted at 92.80 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 85.06.00. Three per cent rentes 98 francs 47½ centimes for the account. Exchange on London 25 francs, 22½ centimes for checks.

BERLIN, Sept. 5.—Trading on the bourse today was quiet. Russians were weaker. Exchange on London, 20 marks, 44½ pfennigs for checks. Discount rates, short bills, 2⅝ per cent; three months' bills, 2¾ per cent.

More "Graft" Delving at Homestead.

The second session of the "graft" investigating committee of Homestead council will be held tomorrow evening and, like the previous session, it will be private. Only those giving testimony will be admitted to the room and the witnesses will be called singly. Most of the witnesses to be heard tomorrow are ex-members of the council, at a number of whom it is alleged the investigation is aimed.

B. & O. R. R. Lets First Contract in Double-Tracking Wheeling Branch

The first contract in the series that will be made shortly for the double-tracking of the Pittsburgh-Wheeling branch of the Baltimore & Ohio road, was awarded yesterday. The contract covers the grading of the four miles of second track to be built between Rand and Bruce. The successful bidder was C. A. Sims & Co. of Philadelphia.

On this four miles alone, by the time the second track is in operation, about $50,000 will be spent. Some other parts of the work will be even more costly. It is proposed in this work to remedy several bad defects in the original line by reducing grades and curvature.

The growth of business on the Wheeling line has been very rapid of recent years. The move to double-track was started several years ago and its necessity was urged upon the board of directors by the transportation officials. It was pointed out conclusively that the volume of traffic which must move over the line has become too great for a single track to handle.

While freight forms of course the bulk of the business done, there is a large passenger traffic over this branch. It forms a link in the through service between Pittsburgh-Columbus-Cincinnati and St. Louis, which is of much importance. In addition a local travel of considerable size has been developed. Along the line are some of the best coal mines in the Pittsburgh district, originating a large volume of freight. To handle this it has been necessary to make tremendous exertions at times.

The new work covered by yesterday's contract will be started at once and brought to completion with all possible speed. It involves the moving of 40,000 cubic yards of earth. Additional contracts may be announced at any time now.

Vanderbilt Passengers May Come.

Officials of the passenger departments of the Vanderbilt lines west of Pittsburgh and Buffalo have been invited to visit this city early in October by General Passenger Agent A. W. Robison of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie. A meeting of these officials is to be held in Buffalo on a date yet to be named, to discuss matters of joint interest relating to the improvement of passenger service. At the conclusion of this meeting it is suggested that the entire party come to Pittsburgh, making the trip from Ashtabula to Pittsburgh by daylight, in order that the traffic conditions may be noted. From Pittsburgh the party will start on a special train run as a section of the "Louisville Limited" for St. Louis, to see the exposition.

Labor Day Gave Many a Rest.

Yesterday was generally observed in the Pittsburgh railroad offices as a holiday. In many cases offices were entirely closed. In others the hours of work were so shortened that the employes and the officials also could attend the ball game and otherwise take advantage of the special features of Labor day. The ticket offices closed at noon. The usual increase of passenger business due to the holiday was noted in the stations. Many organizations came to the city in a body and there were also special excursions to summer resorts.

Duquesne Way Line Advances Fast.

Rapid progress has been made by the Pennsylvania railroad in the construction of the stone and concrete foundations for its new line down Duquesne way to the big freight stations to be built at the Point. The heavy piers are now completed in a number of places and a large stone wall has been built at the edge of the property where the big warehouses are to be erected. Unless there is unfavorable action by the court in the matter of the petition to block the whole work, filed by certain property owners, it seems likely that the coming year will see the line completed.

Railroad Notes.

E. D. Taylor, secretary to the president of the Wabash, spent yesterday in this city.

The last excursion of the season from Pittsburgh to Atlantic City over the Baltimore & Ohio, will be run Thursday of this week.

The Pennsylvania is making additions to its yards at Alliance and its facilities between that city and Columbiana, which will greatly increase its capacity.

It is announced that the Burlington's system west of the Missouri river has been divided into two general superintendencies. C. W. Rhodes, with headquarters at Alliance, and Harry B. Byram, with headquarters at Lincoln, are the officials in charge.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The Oliver shaft of the Calumet and Arizona is now 900 feet deep, corresponding with the 850-foot level of the Lowell, a few hundred feet away. The Lowell did not get its ore bodies until about 1,000 feet deep, but the Oliver has been showing copper for some time, not, however, of great value. Drifts on the 800-foot level have shown leached ore and occasional bunches of good ore, an encouraging sign. This shaft will be sunk 100 to 200 feet more before any new drifting will be undertaken.

The fifth dividend, amounting to $300,000, which Calumet and Arizona will pay September 19, makes a total of $1,300,000 since December 19, 1903. The surplus is now about $1,650,000. No increase in dividends can be expected until the Oliver shaft is producing.

The Higgins company has opened into a bunch of high-grade carbonates on the very backbone of the high ridge running west from the old smelters. These surface pockets have been common on that portion of the Copper Queen Company's ground lying north and west, but invariably have been of small size and comparatively unimportant. A carload or two of rich ore has not been taken from any one of several of these.

The Calumet and Cochise is preparing to dispose of its plant and equipment, hoists, boilers, etc. It has definitely decided to abandon everything. It has spent for sinking shafts $65,000, and for other exploration and equipment more than $95,000, besides which $27,500 was paid on the ground. A balance of about $5,000 will be returnable to stockholders, or 25 cents a share.

It has finally been determined to enlarge No. 3 shaft of Lake Superior and Pittsburgh rather than sink a new one. It is now one compartment and 100 feet deep, but is to be made four compartments, 5 by 24 feet, outside timbers. By January 31 this shaft should be cut down its full size. Then the mine will probably be equipped for immediate production.

Pumps are working in the Calumet and Pittsburgh. Of course openings through which water can come will be confined to the bottom of the shaft, from the 827 to 986-foot level, and as mining begins and openings are enlarged, water probably will come much faster. The management expects that the big shaft will be sunk about 40 feet a month, which will put it to the 1,100-foot level by December. A station will be cut there and drifts started.

The Copper Glance is ready to discontinue drilling and to cease all operations for the present, at least. Its last hole was in rather more encouraging ground than previous ones.

The Mitchell Development, in the Huachuca mountains, a short distance west, is not showing the fulfillment of its promises of a year or two ago, and its value has slumped to far below the amount paid in. Work is still under way.

Active work is to begin at once on the ground of the Duluth and Chiricahua development 40 miles east of Bisbee. This company owns numerous claims, some of which show excellent indications of copper and silver ores.

ROOSEVELT HAS NO VISITORS.

A Member of the New York Democratic State Committee Calls on Parker Labor Day.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 5.—No visitors were scheduled to visit the president today. The forenoon passed without incident. Mr. Roosevelt remaining quietly at home.

ESOPUS, N. Y., Sept. 5.—The first visitor at Rosemount today was John W. Webber of Brooklyn, a member of the Democratic state committee. He was accompanied by George F. Neldlinger of New York, his brother-in-law, who came to introduce Mr. Webber to Judge Parker. They remained about 15 minutes.

MARKETS WERE ALL CLOSED BECAUSE OF THE HOLIDAY

Commercial markets were at a standstill yesterday on account of general observance of Labor day. The grain and flour exchange was closed and produce men did only a small amount of business in the morning. There was no trading in the grocery line. The Elgin butter board met late Saturday and no changes were made. The board has met this way all year when holidays fall on Mondays, the usual day of meeting.

ALL FACTORS CONSPIRE TO WEAKEN WHEAT

Lower Cables, Liberal Shipments and Favorable Weather in Northwest Included.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—An official forecast of clearer weather in the northwest and weakness of foreign grain markets caused a decline in wheat prices here today. At the close December wheat was down ¾@⅞c. Corn and oats were each off ¼c. Provisions were a shade to 12½c higher.

From the start sentiment in the wheat pit was weak. At the opening the market was influenced by lower cables, liberal shipments from Australia and prospects of better weather in the northwest. December was ⅛c to ⅝c lower at $1 07⅛@1 07⅝. The volume of trading was exceedingly light, a holiday in eastern markets being partly responsible for the small interest manifested here. The fact that the local exchange will be closed Monday also tended to hold the market in check. Throughout the entire day trading was largely of a scalping nature. Some reports of small threshing yields were received from the northwest, but little attention was paid to them. As an offset to these advices a report from the Pacific coast asserted that the states of Oregon, Idaho and Washington would raise from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels more wheat this year than they did a year ago. Prices declined gradually throughout the day, the market closing weak and almost at the lowest point on all options. Final figures on December were at $1 06¾@1 07⅛, after the price had touched $1 06⅝. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 81,800 bushels. Primary receipts were 722,400 bushels, compared with a holiday a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 294 cars, against 280 cars last week.

In spite of the weakness of wheat, the corn market held steady. The sustaining influence was the Kansas crop report, showing a decline of 5 points in the condition of the growing grain. The volume of trading was light. December opened a shade higher to ½@⅝ lower at 41⅝@42c, sold between 41⅛@41⅝c and 41⅜c and closed at 41⅜@41⅝c. Local receipts were 765 cars, with 90 of contract grade.

Oats were influenced mainly by the action of corn. Comparatively few trades were transacted, business being of a holiday character. December opened 30@30½c lower and sold between 33⅛@33½c and closed at 33⅛c. Local receipts were 237 cars.

A continuance of the strike at the stock yards restricted trading in provisions, the market being extremely dull, with prices showing little change. October pork closed a shade higher at $11 10. Lard was up 2½c at $7 10@7 12½. Ribs were up 12½c at $7 42½.

Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 87 cars; corn, 1,114 cars; oats, 278 cars; hogs, 12,000 head.

Labor Day Accentuated the General Dullness in the Oil Fields

A very general observance of Labor day caused reports from the oil fields of the lower southwest to be very light, and the little that came through was not of any great interest to the trade.

Operators are anxious for the discovery of some new producing territory so that they can be prepared for work through the winter months and before the roads get in an impassable condition. There are no developments in the lower southwest that hold out any inducements for continuous work for more than a few months. The deep sand territory has not been so fully developed, but a higher market will be the only incentive for active operations in that territory.

In the Big Injun sand development, near Wick, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 8 on the J. W. Ankrom farm and the well produced 40 barrels the first 24 hours. In the same district the Carter Oil Company has drilled in its second test on the Matias Mosser farm and has a show for a very light well. In the same development the Carter company is starting tests on the G. W. Snodgrass, H. C. Watson and M. N. Ankrom farms. The Fisher Oil Company has the rig completed for a test on the W. Moser farm. Neeley & Co. are due in on the sand at a second test on the W. R. Bullman farm and the Melrose Oil Company is drilling Nos. 6 and 7 on the T. H. Ewell farm.

On Rowells run, Calhoun county, the Bonds Creek Oil and Gas Company has drilled its test on the R. G. Linn farm into the Berea grit and has developed considerable gas and the well is spraying some oil.

In the same district the Carter Oil Company has drilled its test on the S. C. Wright farm through the Berea grit and has a duster. This location is 3,000 feet west of the same company's second test on the Rebecca Curry farm.

In the Yellow Creek district, same county, Mallory Bros. & Stewart have drilled their second test on the James Rodgers farm through the Berea grit, but since giving it a shot do not think they will have better than a 3-barrel pumper.

In the same district the Lowther Oil Company has drilled its test on the A. F. Yoho farm through the Berea grit and has a duster. No oil or gas was developed in any of the upper formations. This was regarded as a test of some importance, touching an extension to the Yellow Creek development.

In the Big Injun sand development, on Fallen Timber run, Wetzel county, the Philadelphia Company has drilled its No. 4 on the Robinson-Hogue farm into the Big Injun and the well produced 150 barrels the first 24 hours.

On the Ohio side in the new development on Limestone run, Jefferson county, the Jefferson County Oil Company's No. 2 on the James McBride farm is holding up at 345 barrels a day. The same company's No. 3 on the M. B. Cole farm is flowing at the rate of 12 barrels an hour. In the old Knoxville district, in the same county, located at Hollows Rock, near the old Runyan wells, Dean Anderson & Co. have completed a wildcat on the Howell farm and have a show for a light pumper.

In the Uniontown district, Belmont county, the Sinclair Oil and Gas Company has completed a test on the William Walker farm and has a duster.

In the Germantown district, in the Macksburg field in Washington county, the Consolidated Oil and Mining Company has completed No. 2 on the Hammon Burton farm and has a 25-barrel producer.

On Wolf creek, Morgan county, A. Girard & Co. have drilled in their No. 15 on the Otis Cody farm and have a 10-barrel pumper. No. 13 on the same farm is holding up at 300 barrels a day. In the same district W. H. Jennings & Bros. and Selby have drilled to their No. 18 on the Olive W. Work heirs farm and have a 100-barrel producer. The Muskingum Oil Company has drilled in No. 17 on the Alexander Martin farm and has a 10-barrel pumper.

Near Georgetown, Beaver county, Pa., the Midland division of the South Penn Oil Company has completed its test on the Thompson farm and has a duster. STEUBENVILLE—Twenty-five hundred men formed today's labor parade of which John Kidd was grand marshal. The feature of the profession was a washerwoman, of which there is a union here, carrying a washboard and clothes line.

UNIONTOWN—At uniontown about 1,000 men were in the parade, the various labor unions of Uniontown, Connellsville, Ft. Marin, Charlerol and Mt. Pleasant being represented. Chief Marshal T. J. Kerfoot was in charge, and mounted police of Uniontown led the parade. The largest out-of-town delegation was 300 from Ft. Marion. The address of the day was delivered at the fair grounds by Calvin W. Wyatt of Pittsburgh.

Bentley made the address of welcome, followed by a speech by Patrick Dolan, president of district No. 5, United Mine Workers of America. Judge J. F. Taylor of Washington, Pa., was also among the speakers.

Shenango Valley Out.

NEW CASTLE—All business was suspended here today owing to the Labor day celebration. Large delegations of visiting union men from Sharon, Grove City and other places attended. Albert J. Broadhead was chief marshal and Ira Smith was his aid. This afternoon Prof. Walter T. Mills of Chicago addressed several thousand wage earners at the park upon "Social Economy."

SALEM—Salem, Canton, Alliance and Sebring, uniting in the celebration of Labor day here, were all well represented in the parade, which was the largest Salem has ever had. Sports came off in the afternoon and the evening was given up to speaking. George W. Bope, first vice president of the American Federation of Musicians, and C. F. Davis, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor, both of Columbus, were the speakers.

Frostburg Remembers Labor.

CUMBERLAND—Labor unions of Allegany county today, under the auspices of the Allegany Trades council, celebrated Labor day at Frostburg, with a parade and picnic at Vogtman's park, where addresses were delivered in the forenoon by John H. Walker of Illinois, organizer of the United Mine Workers of America, and Charles V. Stranglen of Baltimore, supreme chief of the B. of I. C. B. and R. M. of A.

WASHINGTON, PA.—The feature of the Labor day celebration in Washington was a monster industrial display. A parade, participated in by all the union workingmen of the town and vicinity, took place, followed by a carnival of amateur sports. All the manufacturing establishments were closed while half sessions were conducted at the public schools.

JOHNSTOWN—Today was a day of parades, picnics and sports, all the labor unions in the city and almost all of the volunteer fire departments observing Labor day. Mayor Pender and other city officials and mounted and unmounted police, headed the parade.

SPORTSMEN FARE WORSE THAN REED BIRDS

Two Shoot Themselves and Another Wounds Party of Three on a Trolley Car.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—Reckless handling of guns by sportsmen who were endeavoring to wing out the reed bird family in and around Philadelphia today, resulted in the wounding of five men, James Doyle, 1731 South Eighteenth street, may die. While in the marshes near Girard Point he shot himself in the right lung. He lay unconscious for some time before he was discovered and sent to a hospital.

It is said the Frick Company will enter suit against the railroad to recover ramages.

LEAPED FROM HOUSE AND STONE WALL FOR FREEDOM

Alleged East End House Breaker Made Spectacular But Vain Efforts to Elude Police.

Two alleged burglars were captured in a spectacular manner by the East End police last evening. Shortly before 7:30 o'clock the police were notified by telephone that two men had entered the home of Theodore Johnston, 5306 Ellsworth avenue, corner of St. James street, and were still in the house. The family is out of the city.

A patrol wagon laden with policemen hurried to the scene. Meanwhile one of the men, learning of his discovery, ran into the rear yard of the premises, and, leaping the fence, started to run. Officer Murray Johnston gave chase and captured him after a run of several blocks.

When the patrol wagon arrived the men were informed that another man was in the second story of the house. They found him barricaded, all doors leading to the second floor being locked. The officers at once began breaking down a door, when the self-made prisoner rushed to a rear window and leaped to the ground, a distance of 25 feet, and started off on a run.

Officer Edward Barry gave chase, with scores of policemen and citizens trailing behind. The man sped down Ellsworth to Aiken avenue and up Aiken avenue to the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. He sprained his left ankle in the last jump, and, although he eluded his pursuers for a full quarter of a mile down the track, he was finally caught by Officer Gettings.

The men were taken to the East End police station, where the first man arrested gave his name as George Lewis, aged 18, of Wheeling, W. Va., and the man captured on the railroad as George Wilson, aged 29, of St. Louis. The men had secured no booty and nothing but several bunches of keys were found upon them. They will be given a hearing this morning.

DEMS SUPPRESS PAMPHLET.

Contained Passage Which Chairman Taggart and Advisers Feared Would Hurt Judge Parker.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Chairman Taggart and his advisers have had to suppress a pamphlet that was expected to make many votes for Parker. One passage that alarmed the Parker managers was part of an editorial, entitled, "The Return to the Fold," in the Herald, August 1. It was as follows:

Democrats who resented the stealing of their party standard by men who advocated repudiation of debts under the guise of free coinage of 50-cent dollars will renew their allegiance now that they have a candidate who adheres to the gold standard and who stands for a peaceful and constitutional administration of the government as opposed to the imperialistic methods of Mr. Roosevelt.

The order suppressing the pamphlet was given without delay, but 5,000 or 6,000 copies, it is understood, were beyond recall.

CHECK WAS WORTHLESS.

It Bobs Up to Worry Man Who Spent One Fortune and Has Another Coming.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Having gone through one fortune and expecting soon to come into the possession of another, Frank Duffield, whose home is in Welsport, Pa., was arrested Saturday on complaint of Andrew C. Rifner, charged with passing a worthless check for $38.

Duffield, after his arrest, remarked to Detective Pinkerton that it seemed strange to him to be in trouble over a matter of $38. He said that two years ago he inherited $60,000 and had found no difficulty in getting rid of it. He declared that his trouble would be straightened out soon. When he would come into possession of valuable real estate, which is at present in the hands of trustees.

ARMENIANS HOLDING GROUND.

Have Successfully Held Their Own Against Sultan's Soldiers.

PARIS, Sept. 5.—A dispatch from Constantinople says an official report, which reached one of the foreign consuls there, states the Armenian insurgents at Van, Asiatic Turkey, are successfully resisting the Turkish troops, which, until yesterday, had been unable to disperse them.

The Armenians advanced to within about 400 yards of the French consulate. It is expected Turkey will mobilize the Fourth army corps and draw troops from Asia Minor in order to suppress the uprising.

ENDS LIFE WHILE BROODING OVER SUICIDE OF FRIEND

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—(Special.)—Brooding over the suicide of his friend, John Brendel, is the only cause Mrs. Paul Schulmeyer of No. 172 Chrystie street, can assign for the suicide of her husband today. Brendel, who was Schulmeyer's closest friend, committed suicide three weeks ago by hanging himself to the gas jet in his room at No. 151 East Third street.

PHILADELPHIA—Labor day was observed in this city today by an immense parade of union workmen.

CINCINNATI.—With exceptionally favorable weather the Labor day parade here was larger than ever.

Turning Gray?

Why not have the early, dark, rich color restored? It's easily done with Ayer's Hair Vigor. Nearly everybody uses it. Ask your own friends. Probably they know how it always restores color, checks falling, and keeps the hair rich and glossy.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor and have found it a great remedy. It checked the falling of my hair when all other remedies had failed."—Mrs. G. A. Morrison, Millinocket, Me.

Chairman Cortelyou Spent Time at His Hotel With Stenographers Clearing Up Accumulated Correspondence.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Notwithstanding the announcement from both political headquarters that they would be closed on Labor day, business was conducted at both almost the same time as usual with the exception that fewer people were about.

Chairman Cortelyou did not come to the Republican headquarters, but he was busy at his hotel with a number of stenographers clearing up accumulated correspondence. Secretary Coolidge and a number of subordinates were at the headquarters and were at work. David W. Mulvane of Kansas, member of the executive committee at western headquarters, came to New York for a consultation with Chairman Cortelyou. Chairman Babcock and Vice Chairman Hull of the congressional committee were at their desks during the day.

Chairman Taggart, Chairman Sheehan of the executive committee, Secretary Woodson, J. G. Johnson and C. A. Walsh of the national committee were at Democratic headquarters, and a large number of employes were also at work.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Press Building, PHILADELPHIA, PA., Sept. 5.

Senator P. C. Knox this morning met Senator Penrose and Fayette R. Plumb, president of the Manufacturers' club, at Republican state headquarters. It was the first meeting of the Pennsylvania senators since Mr. Knox's return from Europe.

State Chairman Penrose discussed with Mr. Knox and Mr. Plumb details of the Republican mass meeting to be held in this city October 1, which will be addressed by Mr. Knox and Charles Emory Smith. The conference lasted for about an hour. Afterwards Senator Knox said that he had agreed to make an address in New York some time after the Philadelphia meeting, but that no arrangement had been made for his appearance in Pittsburgh.

It is possible, but hardly probable, that the junior senator may speak in the "Iron City" towards the end of the campaign. This will depend upon the insistence of the Republican leaders of Allegheny county, as it is known that Senator Knox has placed himself almost unreservedly at the disposal of the national and state committees.

The following telegram has been received by J. Hampton Moore, president of the National League of Republican Clubs:

"Republican National Committee, No. 1 Madison avenue, New York, September 1, 1904.

"My Dear Sir—The importance of such aggressive volunteer work as that now being done by the National Republican League is beyond question. I commend the league to Republican state committees wherever co-operation may prove effective. The league plan of organization appeals particularly to young men and voters of independent thought. Wishing your organization the greatest success, I am,

"Very truly yours,
"GEORGE B. CORTELYOU."

Water Famine Threatened.

Braddock is threatened with a water famine as a result of one side of the borough's larger reservoir caving in while it was being cleaned. About a month will be required to repair the basin and the cost will be several thousand dollars. The damage is thought to have been caused by rain washing away the earth supporting the brick and concrete.

WOMEN'S WOES

Many of the daily woes of womanhood are due to sick kidneys; but too many women fail to recognize kidney trouble when they have it, and kidney diseases are fatal if neglected too long.

When a woman's back aches from morning to night—

When she feels worn out after every bit of work she has to do—

When she cannot bend or stoop without suffering twinges of pain—

When she has constant headache, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains and urinary troubles—

When she has any or all of these ailments it is a sure sign that the kidneys are not doing their duty. Uric acid and other poisons that the kidneys should filter out of the blood are carrying disease into every part of the system.

Regard this as a danger signal. Recognize the kidneys as the cause of your many aches and pains, and to cure the kidneys use a kidney medicine.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. The kidneys begin to do their work properly, and pure blood, the greatest system regulator, restores the whole body to health and strength.

Don't Neglect the Kidneys. At the First Indication of Kidney Trouble, Begin Using Doan's Kidney Pills, a Modern Kidney Specific, Which Has Cured Thousands of People Right Here at Home.

PITTSBURGH TESTIMONY:

Mrs. Geo. Mittelstadter, of 305 Virginia St., Mt. Washington, says: "I can only tell you as I have told a number of others on different occasions, that Doan's Kidney Pills is the only good remedy I have ever found for backache and kidney trouble. I became convinced of their merits several years ago when I had been in bed for two weeks with backache. My doctor failed to relieve me and I was unable to get about at all. This was not my first attack as I had been troubled with symptoms of kidney disorders for many years. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me entire relief, and whenever I suffer a spell from taking cold or any other cause they always promptly stop the attack."

Kidney diseases cause more deaths than any other human affliction. This is because they come on so silently, and are, therefore, neglected.

When the kidneys are well, they remove from the body every day nearly one ounce of uric acid and other poisonous waste.

When the kidneys are sick, this poison is carried by the blood to every part of the body. It causes rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, sciatica, gravel, stone in the kidneys, heart disease, indigestion, diabetes and Bright's Disease.

Doan's Kidney Pills act promptly and give complete relief, because their influence is exerted directly upon the diseased tissues. This medicine has been curing sick kidneys for 72 years.
